ECONOMY CAL SIDESTEPS TO BUY GOOD WILL

Decides Raise in Pay for Congress and Cabinet Is Better Part of Wisdom

ADDS $1,360,000 EXPENSE

Things Congress Didn't Do Loom Big in Record of Session Just Closed

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1925, by the Post Pub. Co., Washington, D. C.—Calvin Coolidge, politician, won over Calvin Coolidge, economist.

The president reluctantly signed the legislative appropriation bill, increasing the pay of every member of congress from $7,500 to $10,000 a year and the salary of cabinet officers from $12,000 to $15,000.

Mr. Coolidge kept up his demand for economy in his inaugural address. In fact it was the principal feature of the speech but he permitted the pay bill to become law just the same. Whether it was the fear of an embittered congress or a feeling that the raise in pay was deserved though offered at an opportune time Mr. Coolidge waited until the very last moment before making clear his decision.

HE FELT HELPLESS

The same president who refused to sign a bill to give the soldiers and sailors of the great war their adjusted compensation felt helpless before a bipartisan alliance in the senate and house passed without a record vote so that individual responsibility may be disclaimed, and adopted also in the face of murmurs from members of the cabinet that they did not need the increase especially as at least six of the ten are supposed to be millionaires, the bill remains the outstanding piece of legislation of the session.

With the exception a fine bill increasing the pay of postal employees and increasing the rate of postage on souvenir post cards, parcel post and other classes of mail matter with the exception of first class the usual appropriation bills constitute the record of congress.

Dozens of really important measures fell by the wayside.

Congress refused to enter the world court.

Congress refused to take the surcharges of Pullman tickets.

Congress refused to pass any legislation for the relief of the farmer—any of the eight or nine bills presented.

Congress refused to do anything but cheaper fertilizer for top farmers in deciding the Muscle Shoals question.

Congress failed to pass the long bill to haul railroad bill.

Congress rejected the Lowell-Harkley bill recognizing the right of labor on the railroads.

REFUSE REPEAL

Congress refused to repeal the publicity clauses of the income tax. Congress refused to put through a 25 per cent reduction in income taxes although several leaders conceded that there was a sufficient surplus in the treasury to do so.

Congress refused to pass the bill appropriating $150,000,000 for new public buildings—the Democrats opposing this because to their minds the bill was so drawn as to permit new postoffices and federal buildings only in states controlled by the Republican party.

Mr. Coolidge had three days in which to send the increased pay bill back for repassage without the increased pay provision. He was told that he would never hear the end of it in congress and that it was more important to him to win the cooperation of congress than to face the disapproval of the country. He added about $1,360,000 to the fixed expenses annually of the government to keep congressional favor and his friends hoped that with the news of the inaugural and the excitement over the ending of the session of congress, the signing of the measure might be lost sight of by the newspapers.

STOKES SAYS HIS WIFE CHASED HIM WITH KNIFE

Chicago — Testimony that Helen Stokes once scratched her husband's face and chased him with a butcher knife when he demurred at renting an apartment at $25,000 a year was being detailed by the husband, W. E. D. Stokes, on the stand in his own behalf in his trial here on charges of conspiracy to defame her.

The alleged assault occurred early in 1916, shortly after the birth of the second child, Stokes said, in an apartment on West Seventy-Second-st., New York.

Mrs. Stokes was living there, her estranged husband testified "with Mrs. Ethel Yorkes Conner, a woman whom I had never liked Mrs. Stokes to associate with."

YOUNG WIFE SEES HUSBAND SHOT BY SUICIDING FATHER

Port Huron, Mich.—William J. Hurley, 55, insurance man and secretary of the Hurley Tire company, fired two bullets into the head of his 20-year-old son Ronald Thursday and then killed himself while his son's young wife looked on helplessly.

The report of the shooting to the police was that Young Hurley had remained away from home Wednesday night and that his father, going to his son's home Thursday morning asked him where he had been. The son did not answer, whereupon the elder Hurley pulled a revolver from his pocket, firing two shots at his son who remained seated, and then sent a bullet through his own head.

The father died instantly. Ronald's condition is reported serious.

DAWES IS TOO BRUSQUE FOR STAGNANT SENATE

Words Fly as He Takes Gavel Because He Cut Corners at Inaugural Fete

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—Vice President Dawes took on the senate Thursday in a first and inconclusive 15-minute round surcharged with the electricity of eager expectancy. There was an explosion or two over the manner in which the new presiding officer had cut corners at the expense of time honored senate customs upon his inauguration but when a recess was taken until later in the afternoon the row had not yet reached an acute stage.

Throughout the quarter hour session Mr. Dawes himself kept perfectly quiet except when in a low voice that scarcely reached the far corners of the chamber he put two pertinent motions and announced the result.

During the short time he was in the chair however, the vice president was the target of a sharp criticism for his manner of cutting short the swearing in of new senators Wednesday delivered by Senator Ashurst, Democrat, Arizona, who emphasized his speech by shaking a forefinger at the chair. Dawes also heard Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri demand that the official record of what was done Wednesday be examined again by the senate, and listened to an explanation by Senator Hale, Republican, who took upon himself all blame for the vice president's failure to return to the chamber Wednesday after he had witnessed the inauguration of President Coolidge.

Crowded galleries and an unusual number of senators, attracted by the prospect of a row, watched the proceedings in an atmosphere so tense that the quiet was oppressive. At the end there was a universal sigh of relief that the impact had been no worse but senators gathering in little knots to talk it over after the recess was taken seemed certain there was more to come.

The vice president himself looked on during the session with an inscrutable countenance and declined to comment on it afterwards.

RICH GREEN BAY HOLDUP LEADER GIVEN TEN YEARS

By Associated Press
Green Bay—Francis Thomas, 25-year-old son of a wealthy produce merchant here, will serve ten years in the Wisconsin state reformatory for his part in the holdup of a Green Bay oil station on the night of Jan. 31.

In pronouncing sentence Thursday Judge J. M. McLean said that the evidence brought out the fact that Thomas was the ringleader in the holdup, for which his companions Edward Powers and Earl Trost were recently sentenced to 10 years at Waupun and five years at the reformatory, respectively.

Thomas was found guilty of robbing a store with intent to kill it resisted, by a jury here Wednesday afternoon.

Public Service Will Honor Reid's Memory

The body of Thomas B. Reid, former publisher of the Appleton Post, who died in Phoenix, Ariz., on New Years night, will be returned to Appleton on Tuesday evening, March 10, and public funeral services will be sponsored by Appleton Rotary club of which Mr. Reid was an honorary member.

The body of Mr. Reid was placed in a vault in Phoenix shortly after his death because of the inability of his daughter, Miss Estelle Reid, to accompany the remains to Appleton at that time. Miss Reid, with Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Wertheimer of Kaukauna, who have been spending part of the winter in the west, will accompany the body to Appleton next week.

It is probable the body will be taken at once to the home, 132 N. Green Bay-st. where a private funeral service will be held at 10:30 p.m. Tuesday morning March 12. Dr. John Paville, Lake Mills, former pastor of First Congregational church here, will be in charge of the services in the home. Memorial services to which the public is invited, will be held in Lawrence Memorial chapel at 11 o'clock.

The Rev. H. E. Penbody, pastor of First Presbyterian church and Mrs. W. J. Fitzmaurice, pastor of St. Mary's church will offer the prayers at the public service, and a quartet, composed of Carl McKee, Mrs. Oa Adler, Mrs. J. T. Quinan and George Nixon will sing several numbers.

The speakers on the memorial program are to be Judge E. T. Fairchild, Milwaukee, a boyhood chum of Mr. Reid at Nunda, N. Y., where both were born; Thomas J. Cunningham, publisher at Chippewa Falls and a life-long friend of Mr. Reid; Dr. John Paville, who will speak for Mr. Reid's old friends in Appleton; Dr. O. O. The Rotary club committee in charge of arrangements for the services consists of H. L. Davis, chair man, John Stevens, Dr. H. E. Penbody, Dean Carl J. Waterman, Dr. O. O. Kinsman, Fred Wetzel and T. W. Orison.

COW PUNCHER ASSUMES JOB LEFT BY GORE

New Secretary of Agriculture Is Dirt Farmer of Long Experience

IS YOUNGEST IN CABINET

Jardine Served Short Time Under Wilson—Fought Artificial Help

Washington, D. C.—William M. Jardine, the new secretary of agriculture succeeding Howard Gore who took office last Tuesday, was a dirt farmer of long experience as governor of West Virginia.

William M. Jardine, the new secretary of agriculture enters the Coolidge cabinet as its youngest member, but with an extensive experience in rural affairs dating back a quarter of a century, to when he was a cow puncher in the Big Hole Basin of Montana.

As secretary he will have the advantage of a previous connection with the JARDINE department. In 1906 he joined for a time Secretary Wilson's staff as an assisting cerealist in charge of grain work in the western half of the country.

Born on an Idaho ranch in 1878, Mr. Jardine became a range rider soon after his fifteenth birthday and since that time has been associated with ranching and farming in many capacities. He left the presidency of the Kansas State Agricultural college to become a member of the cabinet. When appointed secretary he also was a member of the president's agricultural conference.

Mr. Jardine came into prominence last year through his opposition to the McNary-Haugen bill and to any artificial stimulation of agriculture. The proposal of the agricultural conference for creation of a federal cooperative marketing board is credited to him. He may be said to qualify as a "dirt farmer" for he owns and operates a farm in Kansas and another in Idaho.

NO "STARVATION WAGES" FOR WOMEN IF BILL GOES

Madison—Senator Harry Sauthoff, Madison, has introduced a bill in the legislature, which would prevent employers from "starvation" wages to women. The bill provides that no wage paid or agreed to be paid by any employer to any adult woman employee shall be less than reasonable and adequate compensation for services rendered by such employee and that "any wage lower than such reasonable and adequate compensation for such service shall be deemed oppressive and is hereby prohibited."

In determining what is reasonable and adequate compensation the Industrial commission is authorized by the bill to ascertain and be guided by the prevailing wages paid by efficient employees within the same district, industry, occupation or class of labor.

The bill further provides that the Industrial commission must make rules and regulations whereby adult women employees unable to earn the reasonable and adequate compensation determined under the above stated shall be granted a license to work for a wage which shall be commensurate with their ability. Each license so granted would establish a wage for the license and no licensee would be employed for a wage less than the rate so established, according to the bill.

NUPTIAL PERMITS GIVEN TOO FREELY; JURY CALLED

New York—The frequency of child weddings without benefit of clergy and without divorces and annulments, prompted District Attorney McGowan of Bronx-co. to order a grand jury investigation into that county's marriage license system.

He was moved to act, it was said, by Supreme Court Justice Tierney's statement made while he was hearing a divorce action recently brought by a young wife who had been married at city hall, that "it's easier to get a marriage license in New York than to get a dog license."

MILWAUKEE-CO BLACK SMALLPOX CASE FATAL

Milwaukee—Mrs. Hazel Garner, the first person to die of black smallpox in Milwaukee this year, came here from Madison a short time ago. Her body has been taken to Madison for burial.

INTRUDER IN ROOM OF CHILD IS BEATEN BY WOMAN WITH GUN

Milwaukee — Police are holding a man who gave his name as Harold Merchant, without charge pending investigation into the story that he was found in the home of Mrs. Kate Thomas early Thursday.

According to Mrs. Thomas the man entered their home and stumbled into a bedroom occupied by her 11-year-old daughter. The child's cries attracted the attention of the mother who attacked the man with a pistol, inflicting a scalp wound with the butt of the gun. Merchant escaped, halting a taxi cab, and was driven to a hospital where his wound was dressed and where he was held for the police.

NEW CABINET STILL LACKS ONE OFFICIAL

Coolidge Starts New Administration With Warren Named Attorney General

By Associated Press
Washington—Having pledged himself anew to the service of the nation in an inaugural ceremony of almost unprecedented simplicity, President Coolidge took up Thursday a 10-year burden placed upon his shoulders by the people with no indication that he might change his simple program of "doing the duty" work.

Vice President Dawes, inducted into that office Wednesday shortly before the president's inauguration faced his second day as presiding officer of the special session of the new senate.

With the induction into office Thursday of Frank B. Kellogg of Minnesota as secretary of state, succeeding Charles E. Hughes, and William M. Jardine of Kansas as secretary of agriculture, to take the place vacated by Howard M. Gore to become governor of West Virginia, the president's cabinet still lacks one member, an attorney general. The nomination of Charles E. Warren of Michigan, to fill this post left vacant with the elevation of Harlan F. Stone to the supreme court, was allowed to expire with the sixty-eighth congress at noon Wednesday. Its resubmission to the special session of the new senate called chiefly to act on such matters, will be one of the principal nominations to engage its attention.

Everett Sanders of Indiana, successor to C. Bascom Slemp as secretary to the president was sworn in late Wednesday after his term as representative from Indiana ended with the congress.

DAWN-DUSK FLIGHT IS ANNOUNCED BY FLIERS

By Associated Press
Augusta, Ga. — "Another dawn to dusk flight will be arranged as soon as possible," Maj. Thomas C. Lanphier, commanding the squadron of pursuit planes which stopped here Wednesday enroute to Selfridge Field, Mich., from Miami, Fla., asserted as he supervised the work of preparing the planes for their next hop Thursday. Eleven of the twelve planes will take the air about noon Thursday. The twelfth plane, forced down at Daytona Beach, will join the squadron either here or at Langley field.

"On my arrival at Selfridge field I will attempt to make arrangements for a similar flight over the same route which, without question will be a success due to the valuable information received on this flight," Maj. Lanphier said.

ENGLUND'S VOTE HELPS KILL LABOR REST BILL

Madison — The state senate Thursday killed 19 to 12, the Polakowski one-day-rest-in-seven bill which would have extended the 7-day work prohibition of the present law to laundries and bakery mills, hotel and restaurant employees. The bill was brought to vote on a question of indefinite postponement made by Senator Ben Gettelman of Milwaukee, after more than one hour of debate.

The roll call on postponement: For postponement—Billings, Rohlf, Carroll, Cashman, Dargatz, England, Gettelman, Hill, Keppel, Lange, McHigan, Morris, Roethe, Sauthoff, Staudenmayer, Teasdale, Titus, Whitcomb—19.

Against—Barber, Barker, Chase, Carey, Heck, Johnson, Kemp, Padway, Polakowski, Quick, Schuman, Severson—12.

GOPHER TAKES HELM OF STATE FROM HUGHES

Oath is Administered to New Secretary of State by Justice Butler

HUGHES WILL TAKE REST

Retiring Official Devoted Four Years to Most Noted Diplomatic Regime

Washington — Frank B. Kellogg was sworn in Thursday as Secretary of state, succeeding Charles E. Hughes who has held the post for the last four years.

The oath was administered at the state department at 9:30 in the morning by Associate Justice Pierce Butler of the supreme court who like Mr. Kellogg is a Minnesotan.

Some two score departmental officials, members of the Minnesota delegation to congress and visitors to Washington from Minnesota were in the diplomatic reception room at the state department to witness the event.

There was no speech making and Kellogg turned first after he had been sworn in, to exchange handshakes with Justice Butler and Mr. Hughes. An informal reception during which Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg mingled with the little group of guests followed after which the secretary was escorted to 4th big desk in the office of the secretary of state to begin his duties.

Within 15 minutes after Mr. Kellogg had taken the helm which had been held by Secretary Hughes through four of the most eventful years in American diplomatic history, Mr. Hughes had left the state department to complete his preparations for sailing Saturday for Bermuda where he expects to spend several months before resuming his law practice in New York.

Plunging immediately into his new duties, Secretary Kellogg's first appointment was for a conference with President Coolidge with whom he will now work aiding the nation's foreign policies.

A. T. & T. INCREASES STOCK HALF BILLION; NOW LARGEST IN U. S.

By Associated Press
New York—Directors of the billion dollar American Telephone and Telegraph company will ask the stockholders to authorize a $500,000,000 increase in capitalization at the annual meeting March 31, says the annual report of H. B. Mayer, chairman of the board of directors made public Thursday.

The directors recommend the authorization to provide for further growth. No new stock offering is contemplated this year, however.

When its capital is increased, A. T. & T. may lay claim to be the largest corporation in the country, if not the world. Of its nearest competitors, General Motors corporation is capitalized for $1,210,000,000 of which less than half is outstanding and U. S. Steel corporation for $850,000,000 with $685,500,000 outstanding. In actual stock outstanding the A. T. & T. corporation has, as more than $800,000,000 of capital is already in the hands of the public.

WANT CITY TO PAY LARGER RENT FOR HYDRANTS

COUNCIL SCOLDED FOR ITS DELAY IN CINDERING STREETS

Mayor Says He Will Veto Cindering Orders Until Present Projects Are Finished

An increase in hydrant rental as a means of providing a better balance between revenue and operation costs was asked for by the Appleton water commission at the meeting of the common council Wednesday evening.

After considering the matter in committee of the whole session the council referred the petition to the committee on fire water for further investigation.

The representatives of the commission waiting upon the council were Chairman J. J. Plank, Commissioner George H. Beckley and F. R. Morris, assistant secretary. They asked that the city pay an additional rental of $70 a year on each hydrant installed after Jan. 1, 1925. The city now pays the water department a flat rental of $34.00 a year.

MORE HYDRANTS NOW
Mr. Plank explained that the foregoing amount was fixed several years ago at a time when there were but 375 hydrants in the city. Since then, 114 hydrants have been added to the system. The rental of $34.00 amounts to about $70 per hydrant at the present time. The commission asked that the plan now in use in several other cities be adopted to allow the department to charge an additional rate, similar to a service charge, for new hydrants to be installed.

Commissioners Plank and Beckley argued that to compensate the department for losses on new mains and considering that the department must pay taxes as well as a return of 5 per cent on the city's investment, an adjustment on fire hydrant rental ought to be made.

LITTLE REVENUE

Mayor Goodland, when informed that the present cost of installing a hydrant is about $85, declared that $70 was rather high interest to expect from an investment of $85. Alderman Thompson said that no adjustment could be asked for on the ground of increased cost of operation, for they were none. Mr. Plank, now, he replied that the department was not getting nearly enough revenue from the mains installed in recent years to pay even for the cost of operation and 5 per cent dividend. The cost of installing mains in the years 1921 to 1924 was $111,570.76, and that from these mains the gross revenue amounted to only $2,400, whereas interest on this investment paid to the city in four years amounted to considerably more, without taking into account the cost of operation, depreciation, reserve, etc.

Another matter discussed by the committee of the whole was the proposal of accepting plans and specifications for sewer extensions on S. Meade-st and N. Lawrence-st which are to be paved this summer. After the committee session it was decided to accept the plans, refer them to the board of public works with instructions to advertise for bids and assess benefits and damages.

REJECT SETTLEMENT

The committee on finance recommended that no settlement be made with the Appleton banks on the bank stock tax dispute, as there is a test case of this nature pending in supreme court.

Following the adoption of the street committee report providing for grading and cindering a portion of N. Superior-st, Mayor Goodland announced that he would veto any more measures to cinder streets as long as the street cindering already ordered remains unfinished.

Opportunity's Knock

It is unfortunate that so many people don't know much. But the greatest misfortune is that the majority of these don't know how little they know.

The fellow who thinks that he knows it all has forgotten that there's a "Fool Killer" just around the corner waiting to get his scalp.

The employer now-a-days finds it difficult to get men to work for him who know that they know how to do their jobs. The world is filled with workers who will not realize that knowledge means power over their tasks.

Do you know how much there is to be learned about opportunity by regularly reading the A-B-C Ads?

Algoma Farmers Mourn When Rich Man Leaves

Wealthy men are a decided asset instead of a liability to a community, and every effort should be made to discourage their removal to another state. This statement is fully supported by the fact that, before he moved to Florida, Edgar P. Sawyer paid eight-ninths of all the taxes of the town of Algoma. Local tax payers loudly bewail the loss of the Sawyer contribution—now that they are compelled to bear the entire burden of the community themselves.

Commenting on the situation in a signed statement in the Oshkosh Northwestern, N. A. Rasmussen, a well known Winnebago co. farmer, says: "We hear a lot about the menace of capital and are told that rich men who leave the state because our income tax is higher than in other states are tax dodgers. Just how much these rich men mean to the community was brought home to me clearly when I went over the tax roll recently."

"From what I found in the tax roll it appears to me that the rich man is very much maligned. Instead of driving him out of the state, we should make every effort to keep him. I live in the town of Algoma, and since Edgar P. Sawyer gave up his home in Oshkosh and moved to his country home in our township my taxes have been appreciably lower. "Why?" Simply because the 70 per cent of the income taxes retained by the town from the total paid by Edgar P. Sawyer and Phil H. Sawyer, equalled approximately eight-ninths of the amount necessary to carry on the town government. Consequently, the remaining one-ninth was divided among the tax payers of the town, according to the assessed valuation of their property. Mr. Sawyer also paying his share of those taxes. In other words, the salaries of the town officials, the building of town roads, the salaries and costs of elections and the like, were practically paid for by two people."

"Now they have moved to Florida and we will no longer benefit. Not only will the town lose those taxes, but so will the county and state. "It is my opinion that if people would pause to think and would investigate the matter thoroughly, they would see that the rich man is a decided asset to a community instead of a liability. Instead of making our taxes higher than those of other states, we should see that the rich man is given a square deal and is encouraged to stay with us."

UNDERTAKER TALKS TO TRADE SCHOOL PUPILS
Val Beyer of Beyer Funeral Home spoke to students of Appleton Vocational school at the assembly period Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Beyer talked on Sanitary Science and the modern mortician. His talk covered the principles of embalming, the care taken of a body and the preparations for preserving the body.

Chairman Hansen of the street committee asked Engineer Connolly how many streets still remained to be cindered. The engineer could not inform him, and mentioned that for a time cinders were difficult to obtain, but that both automobile trucks are now being kept busy hauling them. E. L. Williams, city clerk, said that adoption of the committee report did not necessarily order the work done, since specifications would first have to be prepared. The mayor, however, repeated his threat that he would for the present veto any more cinder projects.

DIDN'T HAVE PERMIT
Aldermen were perplexed over what course of action should be taken on a frame building that had been moved within the fire limits and which was about to be moved again. Last fall when Wadhams Oil company decided to establish a filling station on W. College-ave near Cherry-st it obtained the use of an old frame building belonging to the Appleton Cereal mills which the oil company used as a temporary station. The building was moved on to property now owned by E. Lieben Grain company. It was done without the moving permit by the city. The council at the time had no objection to moving but could not authorize a moving permit because the building was being moved within fire limits.

The building is no longer used by the Wadhams company, and the owners demand that the building be returned or that they be paid a price of $300, in default of which suit will be started next Monday. The company made preparations to move the building back, but were stopped by the price. The company is unwilling to pay $300, maintaining it is not worth more than $3, and it is forbidden to move the building back. Aldermen object to moving the building back on the same property as they assert that the property belongs to the city of Appleton and is used as a public highway. Attorney F. S. Bradford, representing the Cereal mills, seems to be of a different opinion, however, for he has demanded the building be returned to the original property. The council decided to take no action until the city attorney determines to whom the property belongs.

WELFARE COUNCIL GATHERS CLOTHING FOR CITY'S POOR

Secure Room in City Hall for Clearing House for Wearing Apparel

Organization of Appleton Welfare Council Clearing house has been completed by a committee appointed by President F. N. Belanger of the welfare council to gather wearing apparel which can be given to needy families of Appleton. The first collection of clothing suitable for use will be on Saturday, March 14 from 10 o'clock in the morning until 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

A large room in the basement of the city hall has been secured to store the clothing and prepare it for use. The organizations cooperating in the welfare council will be in charge of receiving clothing. On March 14 and the council will direct distribution of the clothing to those who need it.

An appeal to Appleton people to give clothing suitable for use is being issued by the council. Shoes, stockings, underwear, suits, dresses, coats, hats, everything that can be used, is wanted. The women are particularly anxious to obtain serviceable clothing that can be made ready for use with minimum work. It should be washed and clean. Clothing which has been outgrown but which still has considerable wear in it and clothing that has been discarded because of changes in styles is particularly desired because as a rule, that of apparel still is very serviceable.

TAKE IT TO CITY HALL

Those who have clothing which they are willing to give are asked to leave it in the basement of the city hall between 10 and 3 o'clock on March 14. It is expected that people will rummage through their trunks and closets to garner up the apparel and will see to its delivery. Providing clothing for the city's needy families is one of the big problems of the organizations in the welfare council and they believe that a central agency to gather and store the wearing apparel and from which clothing can be taken as it is needed, will meet with popular approval.

DE MOLAY STARTS SECOND CONTEST

Members of 1,400 Chapters
Compete for Free Trip to Europe

Letters have been received by officers of the John F. Rose chapter Order of De Molay, from the grand council Order of De Molay, with headquarters in Kansas City, Mo., announcing the second international contest among its 200,000 members for representative De Molays. The tests comprise religious, intellectual, physical and craftsmanship qualifications. The contest closes June 1. A board composed of men prominent in business, professional and religious activities will make the final awards. Members in each of the 1,400 chapters will compete locally. The second will be sent to the grand council of officers for judgment. Each chapter can send any number of qualifying records.

This annual De Molay contest was started last year. From among the winners Clayton N. Watkins of Fargo, N. D. was selected to tour Europe as a representative of the organization. This year the award will go to eight members of the order. They will be sent to the Second Annual Leaders' camp at Bear Lake Lodge, Colo., Aug. 27 to Sept. 3 with all expenses paid by the Grand Council.

Last year J. Alden Behnke, representative of John F. Rose Chapter ranked among the first eight of 1,400 boys in the final contest and his full-sized portrait was hung in the grand council rooms as one of the county's representative De Molays.

CARLOAD OF EXPLOSIVES ORDERED FOR FARMERS

Judging from orders received for pyratol, the land clearing explosive manufactured from war material, there will be extensive clearing activities in this county this year. The county agricultural office already has ordered one carload which has been shipped to Galesburg, Shawano co., and has nearly sufficient request to make up another. This will be for distribution in Outagamie and Shawano counties.

When pyratol first was introduced to replace sodafol, also made from war munitions, the demand for explosive dropped considerably. Present orders, however, indicate that the new blasting material is quite as effective and popular as its predecessor.

As soon as sufficient orders have been received to make up another carload this will be ordered for shipment to Black Creek. Orders may be placed with R. A. Amundson or the State bank at Black Creek.

COUNTY CANDIDATES MUST FILE PAPERS BY SATURDAY

Saturday will be the last day for filing nomination papers for county offices, according to instructions received by John E. Hantschel, county clerk, from Fred R. Zimmerman, secretary of state. A dispute arose in the county over the exact date, but a telephone conversation between Mr. Hantschel and Mr. Zimmerman corrected false impressions. The last day for filing nomination papers for city offices, however, is Monday, Mar. 9. The offices involved are county judge, municipal judge, county superintendent of schools, city aldermen and county supervisors.

SIMPLICITY MARKS FOOTWEAR STYLES FOR 1925

Colored satins, higher heels and simpler styles are among the outstanding features of spring footwear styles, displayed now in Appleton shoe stores. Cut work, while it is still used a little, is giving way rapidly to the simpler straps, buckles and ties which embellish the spring footwear.

The colored satins are among the newest colors and are not to be found, but predominating are blonde new penny and rosewood blonde is a deep honey color, new penny borders on the bronze and has the copper tints of a new penny, and rosewood is a reddish-brown, deeper in color than the other two.

Tan is popular now and especially if combined with patent leather. Gray also is combined with patent leather. Black satins are always worn and patterns that are featured in the leather slippers also are made up in satin.

High heels and round French toes are to be worn this spring. With this type of shoe, the ankle strap is necessary, and many varied models are found. Ties often are used in place of buttons, some straps merely cross the instep, and others fasten around the ankle, originating at the back of the slipper.

The sole pump, which is a slipper built rather high and with elastic inserts under the buckle or decoration to allow it to be drawn on the foot with ease, will be popular this spring.

Contrasting stockings are worn with most of the shoes, or stockings that match the gown. One of the chief reasons for the popularity of light colored stockings is that they show the outline of the slipper to great advantage. The cut work shoes and the shoes with dainty straps are much more attractive if worn with stockings that reveal the lines of the shoe.

Tan shades, gun metal, metal and black are the standard colors for stockings, while plaid and striped effects will be good with oxfords for street wear.

Shoes play a part of greater importance in a woman's wardrobe these days and realizing this, she is quite "choosy" about them. A gown may be ruined by inappropriate shoes, just as an artistic hat may spoil a desired effect.

Robert Rohm, carrier on Route 3, who has been ill with the grip for several weeks, will return Monday to relieve his daughter, Miss Lucille Rohm, who has substituted for him in the interim.

Two regular carriers of the rural free delivery service who have been absent for some time on account of illness will soon be back on the job.

Winners of the first triangle eliminations in the Wisconsin Interscholastic debating league have been grouped into nine triangles for the second round of elimination by the state headquarters at Lawrence college. The second round will be held on March 13 unless it interferes with the district basketball tournaments to be held on March 13, 14 and 15. In such cases, the debates will be held either on March 11 or 16.

The triangles are now arranged: West Allis, West Bond, Mayville, Portage, Columbus, Fort Atkinson, Kewaunee, Two Rivers, Shiocton, Berlin, Kaukauna, Sparta, Arcadia, Antigo, Wausau, Coibys, Ladysmith, Mellen, Mondovi, New Richmond, and the winner of the trial is composed of Chippewa Falls, Eau Claire, Menomonie.

River Falls, the winner of the league composed of St. Croix Falls, Osceola, Miltown, and the winner of the league composed of Cumberland, Rice Lake and Spooner.

Three triangles have not yet held the first contests, which makes it necessary to hold three triangle meets Friday night to determine the winners for the March 13 contests.

The survivors of the next eliminations will be given a pennant for excellence in debating. Three more will be necessary to determine the state winner. The nine winners for the present triangles will be grouped into three triangles, and the three winners will then meet for the finals.

"Mother— can't I have five cents?"

"Bobby's mother gave us some money to go to the movies," the child lisped excitedly, "and could I have five cents to buy some candy to eat at the show?"

"Here's a better idea," the mother said. "Father brought home some Life Savers last night, and I'll give you some of them. They are the best candies for children."

How true it is! These china-hard circles of pure goodness are just the thing for sugar-hungry little tummies so easily upset by sweets that are too rich. And for tiny teeth that fare best with candy very carefully chosen.

The ideal candy for children. The active bodies of growing boys and girls crave sugar. Their blood requires it.

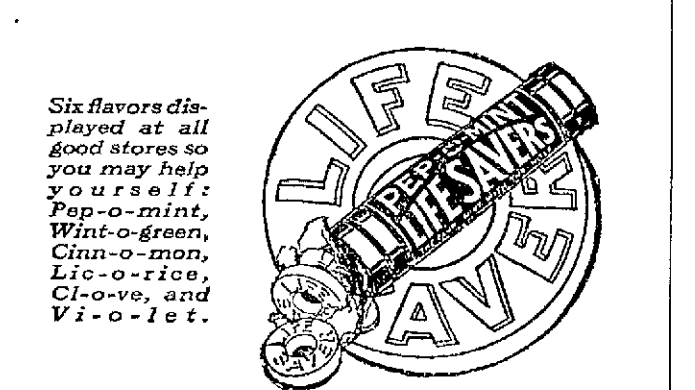

But children's candy should be pure; also you must control over-eating. Life Savers answer both problems:

Be generous with them. Rich sweets, hurriedly eaten, upset little stomachs. Not so with Life Savers. Children eat them slowly because they are so hard and because they want to enjoy longer those delicious, delicate flavors.

You may conscientiously be generous with Life Savers; they are so pure and wholesome. It is far better to let children have the right candy regularly. They are less likely to overeat than when they get it only now and then.

Also, Life Savers leave no sticky, sugary debris to start tooth decay. They are safe for children's teeth. Have Life Savers always handy at home when the youngsters call for sweets. There is no candy better for them.—Life Savers, Inc., Port Chester, N. Y.

Good for little tummies and tiny teeth

THE INAUGURATION

Millions of American citizens, thanks to radio, enjoyed the privilege Wednesday of listening to the inaugural address of President Coolidge. The nature of the setting, the simplicity, the marvel of hearing the president's voice over the entire territory of the country and the lofty character of the address itself, all contributed to make it an inspiring event.

The inaugural address takes rank with the best in our history. Perhaps with two or three exceptions it has not been surpassed. Idealistic, yet eminently practical, the president gave to his countrymen a message of hope, optimism, lofty purpose and high endeavor that they can well accept as their guide for years to come. It was an appeal throughout to the noblest and worthiest instincts of the nation—unselfishness, service, right living, tolerance, spiritual faith. It called up those traditions upon which our greatest achievements rest and which distinguish America from all other nations. It was an exposition of everything that is fine, creating, elevating and promising in American life. It was a faultless defense of American institutions and of the republic against detractors and alien-minded enemies. Lincolnesque in its simplicity, brevity and theme, it can hardly fail to reach the heart and understanding of the American people.

Broadly speaking, the president's address deals with but two subjects. One is service in behalf of humanity, and the other practice of economy, denial and justice at home. With the penetrating eye of New England training and sagacity, he separates the substance from the chaff, distinguishes the spiritual from the sordid, the petty from the large. Thus he says, "If we wish to continue to be distinctively American," (and he believes we should do so) then "we must continue to make that term comprehensive enough to embrace the legitimate desires of a civilized and enlightened people determined in all their relations to pursue a conscientious and religious life. We will not permit ourselves to be narrowed and dwarfed by slogans and phrases. It is not the adjective, but the substantive, which is of real importance. It is not the name of the action, but the result of the action, which is the chief concern. It will be well not to be too much disturbed by the thought of either isolation or entanglement, of pacifists and militarists."

This is the gospel of world cooperation, the gospel of unselfishness, the interpretation of American destiny. In it Mr. Coolidge bids farewell to the isolationists, the pacifists, the entanglement-maniacs, the militarists. On one assumption, namely that we remain "openly and candidly, intensely and scrupulously American," he is not afraid to meet our responsibilities and duties throughout the world. "The physical configuration of the earth," he says, "has separated us from all of the Old World, but the common brotherhood of man, the highest law of all our being, has united us by inseparable bonds with all humanity." He urges that America accept and continue its leadership for the enthronement of peace and the abolishment of force. He frankly says that he is in favor of consulting and acting with Europe "whenever conditions are such that there is even a promise that practical and favorable results might be secured." With great earnestness and unanswerable logic, he urges adherence to the world court. He sweeps aside the sophistries and subterfuges and those "refinements" of argument which are the conceptions of small minds and limited perspective. He looks only to the end, to results, to the substance.

Not a word of denunciation of the League of Nations, not a sop of blustering nationalism to our jingoes, no playing to the galleries, no stultifying concessions to hostile politicians. What a relief from the expletives, passions, denunciations and tomfoolery that heatedly sought to beat down the idealism and humanitarianism Wilson attempted to set up. At last we have gotten away from this bluster and bunk. At last we have a president who is not afraid of demagogues and politicians, whose conception of American dignity and destiny is adequate, who seems in a large sense to measure up to the opportunities and responsibilities of the great office he fills. At last we are emerging from the jungle of bickering and party hatreds that obstructed our vision following the war.

In the field of domestic virtues the president is unerring and unsparring. He is intolerable of spendthrift government and spendthrift politicians. He points the way to individual betterment and national prosperity by laying down the law of economy and hammering it home. He sees its relation to burdensome taxation and there is no escape from his conclusions. It was at this point of his address, if no other, that Wisconsin might have been represented at the inaugural with profit and inspiration. In the presence of his venerable father of humble origin and circumstances, with himself as a living embodiment of American opportunity, his defense of property and acquisition, was an impressive and patriotic assertion of Americanism.

The address abounds in common sense, truth, idealism and sound counsel which will commend itself to the people and attach them more firmly to his leadership. It is to be hoped it will be as widely read as it was widely heard.

LISTENING TO THE PRESIDENT

The broadcasting of President Coolidge's inaugural address was a remarkable and historic event. Like the advent of the steamboat, locomotive, the telegraph, the sewing machine, it was epochal in its significance. It was the first occurrence of a thing of this kind, which made it doubly impressive and it was also entirely successful.

There was not a square mile of territory in the United States in which the president's voice could not be heard and distinguished as he spoke from the inaugural platform before the capitol at Washington. Millions of citizens heard it. It was available to all. The broadcasting stations from coast to coast gave the oath, the speech and all of the settings and incidents exactly as if one had been on the scene.

The broadcasting stations rendered a great service to the people, and they are entitled to their thanks and appreciation. It was a marvelous feat, and truly inspiring to those who had the good fortune to listen in. Undoubtedly it was the most effective inaugural ever staged. The president's personality as well as his words were impressed upon his auditors and undoubtedly the effects of his address were forceful and far-reaching.

DREAM ISLE.

SAY, if you're human, you surely have dreamed of a place far away by the sea. Lost in your thoughts, such an island has seemed just as perfect a place as can be.

You've built you a throne 'neath the shade of the trees and you've ordered your subjects around. You've smiled when they bowed and then quick to their knees have suddenly dropped to the ground.

The mind that is yours must, of course, have its fling. Its travel to dream isle is swift. Oh, where in the man who has never been king when he's just let his inner thoughts drift?

Perhaps the real reason is just that desire is something that makes life worth while. Wishing and waiting keep living alive, though wishes die out after while.

Go on, have your dreams if they give you a thrill and fill up spare moments with mirth. But don't dream too long ere you take a big spill when you suddenly come back to earth.

BREAD AND ACIDITY.

People who adopt diet fads recommended in "health" magazines of the shoddy class are especially fond of vegetarianism and when they carry this to the logical extreme of rejecting even milk and eggs, many of them develop what they call "acid dyspepsia," hyperchlorhydria, too much muriatic acid in the gastric juice. The direct cause of this, very often, is overeating, particularly an excessive proportion of bread in one form or another. White bread or breaq of any other color will do, whether in cakes or biscuits or pastry; and if all this carbohydrate is unwisely supplemented with cereals in the form of "bran" and "potatoes as a mainstay, why, an acid stomach is to be expected. Even if the vegetarian taboo is broken and meat added to the diet, the fact remains that hyperacidity of the stomach is likely to result from a diet in which breaq and meat are the mainstays. Certain items which are sometimes looked upon rather as luxuries or at least as nonessentials are necessary to supplement bread and meat, namely, fresh vegetables, especially leafy vegetables, and fresh fruit. These are not luxuries, they are good economy, because they bring good health, to have a liberal variety of fresh vegetables and fresh fruits as the season and market will afford at all times.

There is a growing custom among bakers to furnish an improved bread. All this talk about the shortage of mineral salts and the lack of essential vitamins in the modern loaf had led to a frank acknowledgment on the part of many bakers that there is room for improvement, and accordingly the forward looking bakers are putting out a loaf in which is incorporated a small amount of milk. In adding milk to the bread the bakers pay a fine compliment to the dairy people, who are heart and soul behind the milk for health propaganda. They maintain that the new milk bread contains the necessary fat soluble vitamin, which enables the young to utilize calcium for the building of bone and teeth. That may be true, though even the ordinary white bread, when eaten spread with butter, yields plenty of fat soluble vitamin. The addition of a small amount of milk to white bread is an improvement, but the improved bread needs still more improvement if it is to compare with bread made from unbolted flour.

Unbolted flour (the kind Sylvester Graham urged many years ago, not the so called graham flour of today nor the so called whole wheat flour of today) does not keep as well as white flour. The poor keeping qualities explain in part why real Graham unbolted flour is not popular with the big millers or the retail dealers today. The baking people declare that the new milk bread keeps better than ordinary white bread, has a better taste and takes a richer brown color in baking. All of these features are devoutly to be wished, I'll tell the world and the average baker, but even if we are to get our milk mixed in the bread, the latest improved loaf is just a compliment paid by the baking industry to the dairy industry and a frank acknowledgment that there is something in all this noise about the deficiencies of the staff of life. If food faddists and self appointed contributors to the vox populi columns have contributed most of the noise, recent medical experts on nutrition have provided the words and music.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Regular Eating.

Doctors and physiology text books tell us we should eat regularly. What is the scientific basis for the assumption? According to this, one must absolutely refuse to take even an apple between meals. (Inez)

Answer.—It isn't an assumption. Inez. That is your own assumption. The scientific basis for the idea is the periodicity and regularity of the process of digestion. But regularity in eating does not mean that you should not take an apple between meals or a whole meal if you wish. It means merely that our meals should be taken at about the same time every day.

MOTHER GOOSE UP-TO-DATE

There was a little miss and she had a little kiss,
That was clinging and thrilling and torrid.
But she couldn't get the boys to appreciate its joys,
For it tasted of rouge something horrid.

Little Boy Blue, if you don't blow your horn,
I'll bounce a rock off you as sure as you're born.
You get full of liquor and drive in your sleep,
Then miss by inches and laugh when I leap.

Little Bo-Beep has lost her sleep,
Her sleep it cannot find her;
Her rapid gait at parties late
Leaves sleep away behind her.

Red says they're all welcome at his lunch counter except the women who want to put up signs for the next church supper.

Mawruss, the flat dweller, says there's one thing about this spring weather he likes. He doesn't have to oil up the lawn mower.

COMMITTEE OF FIVE

ROLLO: A committee of five has been formed, not to spy on the good citizens of Appleton, but to watch closely the dear committee of fifteen. So, dear committee of fifteen, please watch your step. This committee of five also came to the conclusion that those aldermen who caused the lights in the college park to be turned off were mighty small souls. They evidently do not know what Lawrence college means to Appleton.

Committee of Five.

We might also add that Linotypes Mac finds it's quite expensive to take his girl to the movies and ice cream parlors, so he's glad the days are near when he can take her to the city park and sit out the evening on the benches.

Most any day now you'll see Oscar Kunitz's bathing suit hanging on the line to get out the mothball odor so he can take the first swim in the old Fox hole.

And don't forget folks, just as the Irishman remarked to his friend, "There is nothing private about this fight," so come on in and suffer with us awhile. Contributions—humorous, satiric, nonsensical and otherwise—are always gratefully received, even if some of them are not published.

LOOKS LIKE A COLD WINTER

"Isn't that your petticoat showing?"
"Say, you know any more good jokes?"

A magazine article asserts that red wallpaper on a bedroom has the same effect on a man as a drink of liquor. The suggestion is offered freely to any souse who wants to spring an "original alibi" on Judge Parker some morning after. We might add that our bedroom is very temperately padded with a color corresponding to lemon pop.

NO VACATION WENT WITH SCHOOL FIRE

Immediate Repairs Were Made to Roof of Building at Black Creek Following Blaze

Black Creek—Repairs were made at once to the roof of the village school following the fire Monday morning. The damage amounted to about $50 and was not of enough consequence to interrupt school sessions except for a few hours.

The fire was discovered by George Kitchen at 9:20 Monday morning on the east side roof of the school. Mr. Kitchen resides near the schoolhouse, and the fire was extinguished with a chemical extinguisher before much damage was done.

Mr. Kitchen went to the schoolhouse and notified the janitor, John Miller, of the fire, who then told L. Neure, principal. The school fire alarm was given and the 150 children were out of the building in about one and one-half minutes. The children thought it was a false alarm.

The village fire department was called and soon had the fire under control. The hole in the roof is about four and a half feet in diameter. At 2 p. m. school was resumed and the remainder of the forenoon but was resumed again Monday afternoon.

WAUPACA'S TIFF WITH UTILITY IS BROUGHT TO END

Interchange of Power Is Resumed—People Will Vote on Added Fire Equipment

Special to Post-Crescent

Waupaca—The regular meeting of the city council was held Tuesday night, Mayor Pronto presiding. A settlement was effected with Waupaca Electric Light and Railroad company, whereby the company apud all claims of the city to March 1. Both parties agreed to resume the interchange of power under a new arrangement not yet fully decided upon. However, the exchange of power has already been resumed. The city supplies current from its water-works plant.

Another important matter discussed was that of the proposed purchase of additional equipment for the fire department. It was agreed by the council to await a petition by the voters to determine to what extent the equipment is demanded by the public in general. Should the city fathers then think the proposition strong enough it has been decided to submit the question to the voters at the spring election.

Usual bills were allowed.

SCOUTS REORGANIZING

Scoutmaster G. E. Watson has re-organized troop No. 1 of the boy scouts with the 22 original members and is holding regular meetings at the high school. It has been decided not to admit any new members until such time as the troop has reached a more efficient stage of development.

Hills gained two out of three falls, from Young Romanoff in a wrestling match at the local armory Tuesday night before a capacity house. The bout was full of thrills from start to finish and proved to be very satisfactory. Hills took two out of three falls, the last time the pair met so the match Tuesday night satisfied those doubtful of Hills being the victor. The first fall went to Romanoff in six minutes and thirty-five seconds, the result of a toe-hold. In getting his first fall Hills has to labor for 36½. He used a body and arm hold. The last fall went to Hills in seven minutes and thirty-five seconds after he had secured a painful toe-hold which Romanoff could endure no longer. The men wrestled upon a winner-take-all basis which probably accounted for the manner in which each punished the other.

The semi-windup was an amusing match between Bob MacLaughlin and Dean Hubbard, both local boys. As usual the crowd was greatly amused at the wrestling of MacLaughlin, who lost to his lighter opponent who got one fall in a 20 minute match. The crowd agreed that Bob is not yet ready to enter the professional ranks. As a curtain-raiser two young boys impersonating a couple of champions, gave a "splendid" exhibition of how to wrestle.

GAVE POINTERS BATTLE

Waupaca high school basketball team sprung a surprise at Stevens Point Friday night though defeated by a score of 20 to 13. It was understood the Pointers considered the game a practice affair and started with three regulars. Waupaca scored right at the start and played a fast game throughout which threw a scare into the boys of the Wisconsin Valley conference. Before they were done the Stevens Point team had used 19 players to ward off defeat. The game was much closer than the score would indicate as the results were not sure until the last few minutes of play.

The local high school girls team went down to defeat again before the fast cagers of the Point. A small delegation of fans accompanied the team.

Miss Stark, head matron at Wisconsin Veterans Home, fell in the hospital building and fractured her hip. It is reported her condition is of a very serious nature.

Special to Post-Crescent
Kaukauna—Coach Tiger Bill Smith will take his first and second basketball squads to Green Bay Friday evening for tilt with West high teams. The local seconds will meet Green Bay's seconds in the first tilt while the Orange and Black regulars will take on the Green Bay first team in the feature exhibition of the evening. As the two teams are matched in the first contest in the district tournament at Appleton next week, the game will be a pretty fair indication of what may be expected in the district meet. The squad has been presented with 12 heavy white fleece lined sweat shirts, a gift from Mulford's clothing store and the boys will wear them for the first time Friday evening.

The regulars are in the best possible shape and are eager to get into the tournament. The team is without doubt the best that has been turned out here in many years and it looms up as one of the chief contenders for the district title.

It is many years since a Kaukauna school team collided with Green Bay high. It is hoped that this week's engagement will cement relations between the schools and that a game will be scheduled every year. Local officials have said that Kaukauna would be in a position to take on several other larger schools provided the Orange and Black had the gymnasium facilities of the larger institutions.

It is probable a pep meeting will be held in the school Saturday morning. It is understood that a large crowd of students will go to Green Bay to witness the fray.

THREE CAGE GAMES ON NIGHT'S PROGRAM

Kaukauna—Three basketball games will be offered local fans Friday evening in the high school gymnasium. Both teams were evenly matched and played a fast game. The first half ended with the score tied at 12 points. Wings, Peters, center; Licht and Kern, guards.

The semi-windup will consist of a game between the high school girls team and Little Chute high school girls. The local girls have been going good this season under the coaching of Miss Helen Hall, director in physical culture. The preliminary game of the evening will begin at 7 o'clock when the Kaukauna junior high team engages with Appleton Junior high. A small admission will be charged to defray expenses.

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested food? Take Olive Tablets the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like. 15c and 30c.

CHILDLESS HOMES

Read Mrs. Benedict's Letter Praising Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Kewanee, Illinois. "When I was married about a year and a half I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because of ill health. I did not have any children. I now have two healthy little girls and I am sure I would not have had them had it not been for your medicine.

Last spring and summer I got all run-down, irregular, and I had awful headaches, and my back and side hurt me so that I could stay only a short time. My limbs would get so tired and ache till I could cry. I started to take the Vegetable Compound again and used the Sanative Wash, and it was not long till I was relieved. Now I do all my own work and help others. I sure praise Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine to any one I meet that is suffering from similar troubles. I think if mothers with girls would give it to them when they come to womanhood it would make them stronger. People who have known me all my life are astonished to see me now as I was always sickly when in my teens and until I started taking the Vegetable Compound." — Mrs. MARY R. BENEDICT, 318 Payson St., Kewanee, Ill.

MARRIED FLIRTS

There has never been such a galaxy of stars appearing in one production as that in "Married Flirts," which is showing at the Elite theatre tonight and tomorrow.

Pauline Frederick has the title role and Conrad Nagel, Mae Busch and Huntly Gordon, are featured with her. The story, which was written by Louis Joseph Vance and adapted to the screen by Julia Crawford Ivers, handles a tremendous theme of love, marriage and divorce.

Mae Murray, May McAvoy, Norma Shearer, Aileen Pringle, Robert Leonard, the producer; Hobart Henley, the director; John Gilbert (Elmer Glyn's ideal type screen lover), and William Haines all appear as extras in one of the scenes.

Brimsful of interest and intrigue from beginning to end it offers a unique quadrangle story.

Robert G. Vignola directed. This is the first of a number of productions he is to make for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

NOVAK-FAIRBANKS

Another Thriller by Your Favorites

Eva Novak and William Fairbanks will come to the New Bijou theatre Friday and Saturday. They are starring in "The Beautiful Sinner," a detective romance which is a series of thrills from start to finish.

A band of crooks land in this country after committing a robbery in Peru. They are discovered by a young criminologist and he decides to go on the case at the request of a secret service man. Among the band he finds a young beautiful girl who has been vouched for by his aunt. Her connection with the band and the final working out of the mystery form the subject of a very interesting picture.

Eva Novak and William Fairbanks do some very excellent work in this picture. There is a thrill in every reel and the picture is warranted to bring the most staid audience out of its seats. An automobile is driven over a cliff and everything taken at large this picture is warranted to be good entertainment.

THE EARLY BIRD

Racy in its tempo, side-splitting in its comedy, gorgeous in its background and refreshing in its romance, "The Early Bird" with Johnny Hines in the featured role, tells a story of milk and love in a manner so realistic that it well merits the classification of one of the best comedy-dramas of the year.

By sheer ambition and the dynamic force of his personality, he made his way up the ladder from an ordinary milk driver to the head of the business. Fate continually encumbered his path, but the dogged persistency of the man surmounted all the obstacles to finally win him the hand of the woman who was impossible to get. A zippy story in which delightful comedy is intermingled with drama is all cleverly unfolded in Hines' greatest, "The Early Bird," Appleton Theater Thursday and Saturday.

DIG CAST FOR SWANSON

That Paramount believes in surrounding Gloria Swanson with the best screen talent available is amply demonstrated in her new Paramount picture, "Manhanded," which is announced for the Appleton Theater on Monday and Tuesday.

Tom Moore, one of the best-liked and most popular of screen actors, is Gloria's leading man. Those who have had an advance peep at the picture claim that his portrayal of the poor garage mechanic is his greatest performance. Ann Pennington and Brooke Johns, most famous of the Ziegfeld Follies stars, are also in the picture.

COUNCIL FORBIDS CARS TO PASS EACH OTHER ON BRIDGES

Ordinance Arouses Opposition but Is Passed With Three Dissenting

Wednesday night again was "ordinance night" for the common council passed four ordinances and received two others for consideration. Those passed were two establishing a new salary schedule for the police and fire departments with a $5 a month increase for members, an ordinance lengthening the term of county supervisors from one to two years and an ordinance forbidding vehicles on a bridge to pass motor vehicles going in the same direction. The only measure that aroused debate was the last. It finally was passed with Aldermen Hansen, Steinhauer and Smith dissenting.

EXTEND ARTERIALS

Designation of Cherry and Richmond streets as arterial highways was sought to be made legal by an amendment to the arterial highway ordinance. The amendment was referred to the ordinance committee and ordered published. It was modified so as to arterialize N. Richmond street not only as far as W. Wisconsin street but clear through to the city limits. This was done at the suggestion of Mayor John Goodland, Jr., who feared that, if the arterial highway were not extended through, strangers might mistake that portion of the street for an artery and become involved in collision at W. Brewster street and W. Parkway bridge.

A new ordinance forbidding the display of merchandise on a sidewalk and replacing a similar ordinance was introduced and ordered published. The ordinance is more explicit in terms and carries with it fine of $5 to $200 or 30 days to six months in jail for violations.

ALDERMEN OBJECT

Alderman Hansen objected to the ordinance relating to passing of motor vehicles on bridges. He said that while the measure would insure greater safety on such narrow bridges as E. Johnson and S. Oneida street bridges, it was not necessary to apply the same rule to S. Cherry street bridge which is wide enough to admit four lines of traffic.

It was suggested by Alderman Steinhauer that if a center line be drawn through the center of S. Cherry street bridge accidents on bridges could be avoided. Others thought that lines should be marked out for four lines of traffic. Alderman Smith believed it unjust for an autoist to be held up by a slowly moving car ahead of him and objected to the ordinance that would forbid one to pass. Under the provisions of the measure one may not pass unless the motor vehicle ahead comes to a full stop. In that case the driver wishing to pass must first give a distinct signal. The signal must also be given if the driver desires to pass a horse drawn vehicle. Mayor Goodland advised the aldermen that it would be wiser to mark out lines of traffic and for bidding stopping on the bridge.

WERNER REFUSES TO SET ASIDE VERDICT BY JURY

In the circuit court case of Menasha Boiler works vs. Charles Spaulding acting for the Novelty Cleaners & Dyers, Judge Edgar V. Werner has rendered judgment sustaining the jury verdict and refusing a motion of the plaintiff to set aside the verdict.

The Menasha Boiler works brought suit against Mr. Spaulding for approximately $270 which they claimed for repairing a boiler and other work. The defendant maintained that a verbal contract had been entered into for $115, and the jury after hearing the evidence decided that there was a contract. Attorney Charles Vette, Neenah, represented the boiler company and Attorney A. J. Bosser, Appleton, represented Mr. Spaulding.

Joint-Ease they call this wonder working substance, for the reason that when ordinary remedies fail to liberate the stiff, inflamed rheumatic joint or reduce the swelling Joint-Ease succeeds.

It's a good name for a good clean penetrating prescription that in just a few months has proven to a multitude of people that lame swollen distorted joints can speedily have the kinks taken out of them and work smoothly as ever.

But Joint-Ease is for both rheumatic joints whether knee ankle hip shoulder, spine or finger and for that purpose its sale is immense.

PROHIBITION HAS MADE U. S. BETTER, KIWANIS TOLD

Not as Many Drunks Now as in Pre-Volstead Days, Dr.
MacInnis Says

The United States is much better since enactment of prohibition than it ever was before the amendment was passed, in spite of many opinions to the contrary, the Rev. G. E. MacInnis of Milwaukee, told the Kiwanis Club at the regular meeting Wednesday noon at the Conway hotel. His subject was "How to Get a Thrill on New Years Eve." He visited the cafes and cabarets of Milwaukee with prohibition officers in an effort to discover whether the prohibition law was being obeyed on New Years eve and he described his tour in his talk. His Scotch wit kept his audience in laughter during the entire speech. W. T. Hughes was chairman of the committee in charge of the program.

OFF AGAIN, ON AGAIN
The Rev. Mr. MacInnis said that he was challenged to go through Milwaukee's "gay spots" and see how poorly the prohibition amendment was being obeyed on New Years eve and he accepted the challenge. Then realizing that the stage was to be set to show him up, and that he would find many "drunks" everywhere, because of the advertising given it by his challenger, he refused to go. Finally after all had been called off through the papers he slipped out with his challenger at the last minute and made the tour. Covering all of Milwaukee's cafes and cabarets between 12 and 2 a. m., he found little evidence of liquor, not two dozen drunks and less than one half dozen unable to walk. This should prove that on the whole the liquor law was being obeyed, Dr. MacInnis said.

CHANCE TO GET DOLLAR
In the "old days" a pedestrian could count 50 drunks on a Saturday night on a popular street, MacInnis said. This compared with scarce 15 on a New Years eve, says much for prohibition. Mr. MacInnis said he is willing to give anyone a dollar for every drunk he can point out on a Saturday night between 8 and 11 o'clock on any street providing the stage is not set to heat him.

The prohibition law is not 100 per cent efficient, but it is doing a great amount of good, he said. Ten years ago there was not a meeting of any kind where there was not a number of drunks, but today it is different. The laboring man gets better wages today because he is not drunk, Kiwanians were told.

A man who defies the nation and tramples on the constitution and law is an anarchist," Mr. MacInnis declared emphatically. He may be against prohibition but he should abide by the laws unless he can change them in the usual way. The United States has never taken a back step and never will. Prohibition will stay he declared. Though the country is better by prohibition it can be made still better. The time may come when murder, disease and drunkenness will be eliminated. Mr. MacInnis closed his talk with a shining appeal for good citizenship and unselfishness to others.

The Foundation of Faith

Read Lk. 7:18-23 Text: 7:22 Go and tell John the things which ye have seen and heard.

IMMUTATION—Christ did not impose an undue test on his disciples when he asked them to believe in him. His miracles appealed to their eyes, his truth to their minds, his personality to their hearts. How could they do otherwise than believe in him and how can any one resist him? If we put our faith to work we shall come to know him as our personal Lord and Saviour.

To every man there openeth
A High Way, and a Low,
And the High Soul climbs the High Way
And the Low Soul gropes the Low,
And in between on the mighty
flats,
The vast drift to and fro
But to every man there openeth
A High Way and a Low,
And Way his soul shall go.

PRAYER—O Lord our God, give us a desire for knowledge of thee that we may draw all men to thee. We pray that thou wouldst knit our lives into thine with holier and stronger bonds. Deliver us O Lord from whatever would separate us from thee. Amen.

Uniforms for members of the Saxa phone band of the Onev Johnston post American Legion have been received and will be worn on the evening of the band's first public appearance, a concert on Mar. 18 in Lawrence Memorial chapel. Proceeds of the concert will be used to defray expenses for uniforms, instruments and music.

The number of cases of alcoholism in New York hospitals decreased from 32,778 in 1914 to 16,568 in 1923. Last year the number increased to 23,292.

New Way to Quickly Stop Dangerous Cough

It is almost criminally careless not to properly attend a persistent cough, which by seriously weakening the system lays you open to far more dangerous infections. For by a very simple treatment you can stop the coughing spells almost instantly and often relieve the stubbornest cough in 24 hours.

This simple treatment is based on a remarkable prescription known as Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs. You simply take a teaspoonful and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing it, without following with water. The prescription has a double action. It not only soothes and heals soreness and irritation, but it quickly loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which are the direct cause of the coughing. The prompt relief of the heaviest cough seems almost magical.

The prescription is highly recommended for coughs, chest colds, hoarseness and bronchitis, and is wonderful for children's coughs and spasmodic croup—no opiates or other harmful drugs. Economical, too, as the dose is only one teaspoonful. At all good druggists. Ask for

As a
Spread for Bread
on the Table

Bread, in one form or another, appears regularly on the American family dining table at every meal. Equally important with the bread is the spread which makes it appetizing and rounds out its food values. The finest spread for bread is fresh, tasteful Jelke GOOD LUCK Margarine. This blended spread is a real contribution to the art of better living. It is made by combining several choice ingredients together. In this way it is possible to secure better flavor, a purer food and sounder food-values than by a less advanced method. The mother, housewife or hostess, called upon to serve tasteful, appetizing meals, can use this table quality margarine to great advantage.

As a
Shortening in Baking & Cooking

In food preparation the calls for a shortening are many. Pastry needs plenty of shortening. Roasted fowl calls for a cup and one-half for basting and dressing. And so on. With every call the quantity mounts up, until shortening is a really important item in the kitchen; and the problem is—to have good things to eat and yet keep the cost down. Fresh Jelke GOOD LUCK Margarine is splendidly useful as a shortening, and solves the problem perfectly for the housewife. Cakes, biscuits, dressing and doughnuts, when made with GOOD LUCK, are excellent; and pastry is simply wonderful. GOOD LUCK improves the home menu, and is not expensive.

The report reads:

"Your committee on roads and bridges to which was referred the matter of the Zeh ditch in the town of Menasha in said county, beg leave to report as follows:

"Your committee has had the matter in question under discussion with the town board of the town of Menasha, the state engineer, the property owners interested, and your committee has suggested that the county should contribute towards the construction of said ditch at the proper place, along said highway an amount of $700 equal to what it would cost the county to properly safeguard the present highway against the ditch as now located, and your committee believes that in and through the ditch can be correctly located, and dug deep enough to take care of water at the place in question and to the satisfaction of all parties concerned."

SUCCESS COMES ONLY WITH WORK. REILLY TELLS H. S.

Former Congressman Places Health, Love of Work and Will Power as Requisites

New London — M. K. Reilly, National lecturer for the Knights of Columbus, former congressman, and prominent Fond du Lac attorney, addressed the local high school assembly Wednesday noon, on the subject "Success Comes Only With Work." He also addressed a large gathering in Knights of Columbus hall Wednesday evening on the subject, "The Perils of the Republic."

In his talk to the high school, Mr. Reilly said, "I used to think that the schools were built for the teachers. However, I only put things over on myself, for I have found out since, to make for the teachers and had, I made more of my opportunity, I would have been a greater man today than I am. When you go out into the world, you will meet many, many people. Many of them are failures in life. They have only themselves to blame for, they have made more of their opportunities, they would have made a success of themselves."

"The first requisite of success is health. A man in order to become a success must strictly avoid drinking and dissipating. Men and women today do not pay enough attention to their health—and did not do so when they were young. Those who do not have no chance to become a success in the world."

LOVE YOUR WORK

"The second requisite is industry. Those who fail are generally those who are afraid of work—who work like the dickens trying to keep out of work—and keep continually saying, 'Let George do it! The men who succeed are those who love work—take joy in grinding long hours. Stay out of the eight hour class for as soon as you join it, you are doomed. Our modern world, gentlemen, is simply another way of saying, 'Hard work.' Faderewski is a genius—and he is a genius because he spent long, countless hours in practice on his piano."

"We are all looking today for a short cut to success—a way in which we may obtain success without working for it. There is no such thing. Men who are successful are the ones who start at the bottom of the ladder and work up, rung by rung. Many men are bank presidents today who a few years ago started as janitors in those same banks. There is no such thing as not being able to become a success because you come from a poor family."

MUST DO RIGHT

"The third requisite for being successful is the power of distinguishing between right and wrong—and saying yes to the right and no to the wrong—a strong will power. You all know what's right and what's wrong. For instance, tonight you know that you ought to stay home and study. When it comes time to begin—you say, 'What's the use—I guess I'll go to a movie! That's wrong! Men and women who are successful today are the ones who had the power to choose the right before the wrong, and say 'No' to themselves."

"If I were starting life once again, and had the power to choose those talents to go on I would take first: good health, then a love for work and thirdly, a strong will power. Success does not only mean wealth, of course, we must have wealth at least to a certain degree, to be successful but the chief meaning of success is happiness. Happiness, before anything else—for after all—if we have millions of dollars—and no happiness—what good does it do us? Happiness is derived from serving our fellow men. I would rather go to my grave marked down as a man who had served his nation and his fellow men, than simply as a miser who had hoarded up his millions!"

CHARGE MAYOR DID NOT GIVE FACTS TO COUNCIL MEMBERS

Aldermen Plead for More Cooperation in Conduct of City Affairs

Neenah—"This council must have cooperation and work together or no work at all," was the ultimatum given by the William Schmidt, alderman from the Fifth ward during the Wednesday evening meeting of the city council.

Alderman Laurson of the Fourth ward accused the mayor and members of the waterworks commission of keeping information from others of the council concerning recent trouble at the waterworks station when equipment purchased during the last administration failed to function as had been expected. Alderman Laurson accused the mayor of giving information to newspapers concerning this question before the mayor had informed the members of the council. This brought out a heated discussion.

Alderman Schmidt stated there had been nothing secret about the matter as the commissioners had acted as they thought wisely in condemning something which had cost the city nearly $40,000 and this matter has got to be made right before one dime will be paid. To bring the matter to a head the mayor ordered a complete report published of every item of expense incurred at the waterworks station to show that the commission had acted wisely.

Alderman Laurson asked that closer cooperation be established between the waterworks department and the council. This brought out a similar plea from Alderman Herzinger in regard to the school board and the city officials, claiming that the council should know what was going on, especially now when a new school is about to be erected.

New Designs In Artificial Silks Have Nice Names

Some new designs in artificial silks were introduced at a recent showing of fabrics.

Even those materials that retain earmarks of other days have features distinctly their own. For instance, the viamour crush is a near relative to a material formerly in the plush family, but this new fabric is light as silk and has a luster its predecessor did not boast of. This material in cream color comprised the body of a short coat, and combined with it was heavy red embroidered material making the sleeves. It was lined with red silk.

A material called Iceland is distinctly new. It has a medium deep raised face, with a block design, which has been achieved by a steam brushing process. It is shown to excellent advantage in a three-piece suit. The dress is made of soft, light green flat crepe, cut along simple lines, and depending for trimming upon embroidery, which follows the three-inch band of iceland around the bottom of the skirt. The coat is entirely made of iceland, and is lined with the green silk, with the embroidery motif appearing again at the bottom of the skirt on the inside.

Radio glow is another new offering. It is a cotton-back material with a heavy nap and a diagonal twill. A model of this was shown in a coat of wood rose color. It was three-quarters length, with full sleeve, and beaded braid in shades of brown and red decorated the opening and the cuffs. This fabric was combined with silk leopard in a long coat of red. Repulsion, a worsted red effect, was shown in a dark red topcoat, which was stitched around the hips, cuffs and collar with yellow silk.

There was a Shanghai silk mixture, called roulon, with vertical stripes set off by narrow bands of another color. This material is used effectively for heavier wraps and topcoats. Another distinctive feature is prairie, which is calculated for evening popularity. It is a brocade effect, with high luster, and the models in turquoise and white of voluminous cut are especially attractive.

Then there is omanillo of the duvetyn family. Chantime, something like a plush; touquet, suedera and the shorter napped ruban—all additions to the season's line of fibres.

First Party? One Of Girls Greatest Moments.

BY CYNTHIA GREY

Sylvia's first party dress! At last it is almost finished... all but drawing out the basting threads!

Sylvia, enchanted, revolves slowly before the pier glass in her little white bedroom while mother inspects her.

Sylvia's eyes are full of the dreams that come with the First Great Moment of a woman's life... the moment that comes when a girl is 16 and wears her first party dress.

Sylvia's frock is soft, sunshiny silk and there is a big blue bow just below the waistline that is exactly the color of Sylvia's sea-blue eyes.

It is a cunning frock. But it isn't the party frock that Sylvia eyes see in the mirror.

She sees her girlhood there... the magic time that began only a moment ago when her mother slipped the sunshiny dress over her head.

Only a moment ago Sylvia was a little girl in a Peter Thompson dress. Now she's suddenly grown-up in a dress with billowy ruffle bows... a dress that was made for a party! A dress that stands for dances, and bouas, and corsage bouquets, and all the delicious things that make girlhood the light-hearted, magic time that it is.

"I don't know what your father will say when he sees you in this dress," says mother a bit shakily. "He'll think he's lost his baby girl. I'm afraid."

The Cupid's bow of Sylvia's mouth droops for a second, although she knows perfectly that she will always be dad's baby-girl, even when she's married and has baby-girls of her own.

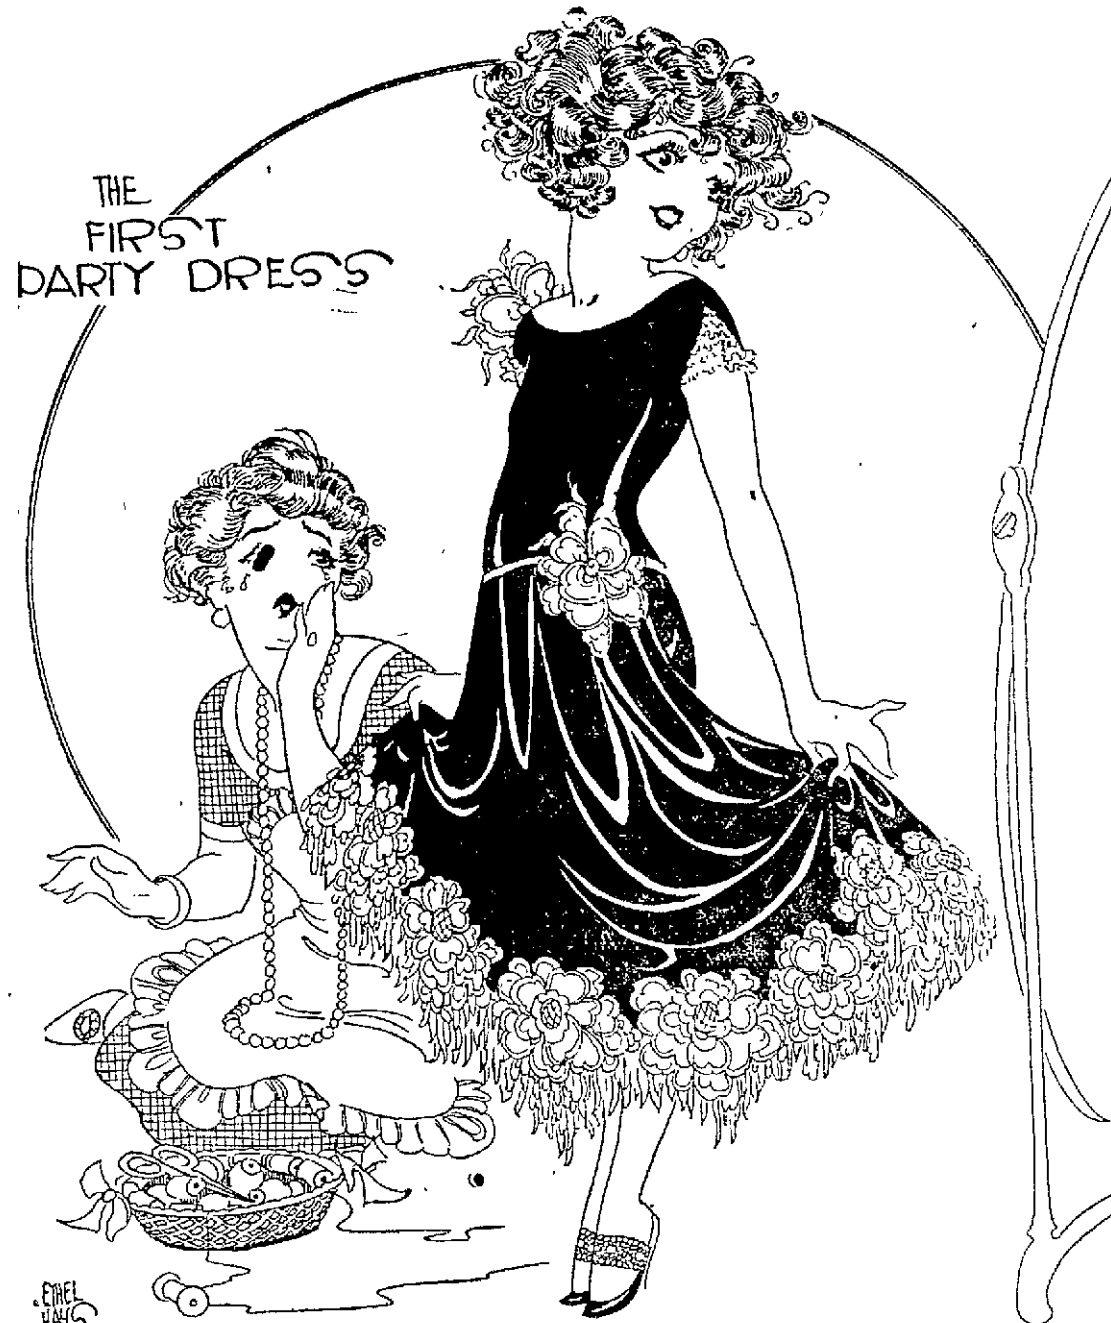

Then she smiles again. For she is thinking of Tom, when he comes to-night to take her to The Party... and sees her for the first time in that dress all made of the stuff of dreams in that wonderful grown-up dress!

He won't recognize in her, the little freckled school girl Sylvia, who used to make snowmen and sand-castles with him only a few years ago.

And for the first time in her brief, happy life, Sylvia knows that she is beautiful.

For in the mirror she sees herself with Tom's adoring eyes!

Pajamas Now In Ensemble Vogue

That the vogue for the ensemble should extend to negligees and robes intimates was to be expected; but that it should take in pajamas was a development hardly anticipated. Yet the ensemble pajama is here as the newest and smartest creation for those women who can afford beautiful and luxurious things. The idea is not only effective, but decidedly practical. Pajamas or, rather, smoking or lounge suits of various types, are supplemented by capes, or long flowing coats of contrasting or harmonizing shade. The wearing of these outer wraps not only gives added warmth and comfort, but permits the wearer to receive her more conservative friends without presenting a too bizarre appearance.

The capes and coats which go with the ensemble pajama suits are usually of dark material, generally black crepe satin. The lining, however, is very gay, and repeats the colors of the pajamas themselves. For instance, a pajama set of rose with deep bandings of color will have with it a long, loose black coat, lined throughout with crepe de chine to match the pajamas and with whatever ornamentation they have, repeated in the lining.

FASHION HINTS

NEW COAT MODEL

There's a new coat model that is most interesting, with a belt in the back, a two-button closing in front, and a tailored collar with a mannish heavier choker. It is infinitely more comfortable than the more capelike model, which must be held in place.

FINE PLEATINGS

Very fine pleatings edge the tunics of some of the most attractive new frocks and sometimes there is a fine stitching of silver or gold thread.

LARGE CAPE COLLAR

The very large cape collar is being introduced with the Directoire styles, and is very graceful on the slender figure.

STRAPS NOT USED

Gowns without shoulder straps are shown for evening, the bodice being very carefully and closely fitted.

BRONZED LEATHER

Bronzed leather is one of the novelties of the moment, and is made in attractive sandals.

NOVEL ACCESSORIES

Matching handbags and belts are novel accessories for the girl who wishes to keep a little ahead of the procession.

INTERESTING FAD

There is an interesting fad at the moment of wearing one gold-finished choker and one silver-finished.

WHITE GOWNS

White gowns for evening or for Palm Beach are frequently made very lovely by the addition of a saash or scarf of orchid or cyclamen-colored velvet.

The Tangle

Mother was sleeping quietly after her long night vigil when Alice arrived. Both John and I went to the train to meet her and Karl. She seemed very much put out about something, and her only observation was: "Hate all the arrangements been made?"

Poor Karl looked worn out. However, he made no complaint. When she arrived at the house, in spite of everything either Karl or I could say, she went directly to her mother's room, and throwing herself down beside the bed, began to reproach us all for not bringing her home in time to see her father once again.

Of course, this awakened mother, who opened her eyes to hear: "If my dear dad had been really himself, he would have sent for me in time. You, every one of you, had a chance to bid him goodbye, but you forgot me!" she wailed.

"It was nothing to you, Leslie, that I was not here to share your selfish grief and you let him die with his eyes resting only on you, I, too, am the daughter of my father, and I will not forgive you for this, never."

"Hush, hush, daughter!" remonstrated mother before she was fairly awake. "None of us knew the end was so near. Of course, we have known your father has been seriously ill for a long time, but until yesterday morning I tried to make myself believe he was going to get well. His serious illness, Alice, did not keep you from running away from him and marrying Karl. You yourself forgot him. I suppose he did not ask us to send for you because he wanted you and Karl to enjoy the first little while of your marriage without being called to visit this house of grief and sorrow."

"But what if he didn't send for me? You sent for Leslie and Jack!" wailed Alice.

"Leslie came, my dear, before you ran away to be married, and John came at your father's request, made many times to him by letter and telegram in the last few weeks."

"Did he not ask you to send for Karl and me, as well? Why should he send for John alone? What did my father want of one of his sons-in-law that he did not want of the other?" Alice demanded.

"He wanted me to take charge of the plant and execute his will," came bluntly from John, who was standing behind Karl and Alice.

"Oh, I know you influenced him. John Prescott!" hysterically cried Alice, wheeling around. "Why should he not want Karl as much as you; and me as much as Leslie?"

"Simply because Karl has never been tied down to business in his life, and he knew you were a martinet. Your father knew well that the person who would take over his affairs would probably have to work and work darned hard all the rest of his life. Your father, Alice, told me this specially," said John angrily.

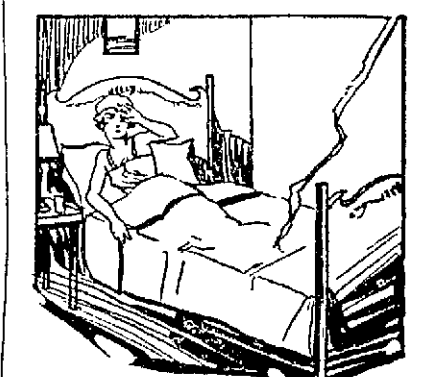

"He loved Karl perhaps better than he did me. He's known him longer, and I presume Karl is more lovable, but he knew that I, from sheer necessity if nothing else, am a better business man. So he has not only made me manager of the steel plant, but has made me executor of his last will and testament."

Alice grew very pale, but Karl, God Bless him, came forward and took John's hand in his.

"Father, Hamilton was right, Alice, John, you are the one to take charge of his business."

Safety Hints

HEATED IRONS ARE DANGEROUS

Heated flatirons and bricks are unsafe bedfellows. Frequently during the cold weather, beds are set afire by overheated bricks or irons. Even electrical pads present some degree of hazard. There is a cumulative effect of heat that may set the bed afire if they are placed under heavy bed clothes and the current left turned on all night.

Health Hints

COLD WATER TOWELS

The cold water towel bath should be taken in the morning, immediately after getting out of bed. Mrs. Mann of Anytown was told:

"With breakfast to get and with children to care for, many mothers think they do not have much time. It takes less than five minutes, however," said the doctor.

Here's what to do, after getting out of bed:

Remove night clothes. Wash neck and face first with cold water. Then take a large rough towel, wring it loosely out of cold water, and with both hands rub the breast, sides, abdomen and arms.

Dip the towel again, throw it loosely over the back, then reaching back with both hands, see-saw it down the back.

Wring the towel, dip it in cold water again, and see-saw it down over the hips, and then bathe the legs.

Dry quickly with a rough dry towel.

Persons with ordinary health and resolution can take this morning cold bath without chilling, and when through with it be warm and feel 50 per cent better.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup. It is simple and cheap, but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex from any drugist, pour it into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Pinex pine extract known the world over for its healing effect on membranes. Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Adventures Of The Twins

WHAT HAPPENED TO THE LITTLE MOUSE

"Let's go back and peek," said Nan.

"Why? Where?" said the Fairy Queen.

"Let's peek and see what happens to the little mouse you just changed into a Tom cat. I'm worried."

"Why?" asked the Fairy Queen again.

"Because as we were leaving I'm sure I heard him go 'Spit! Spit!' Maybe he was having trouble."

"Go back, Two Spot," commanded the Fairy Queen.

The butterfly turned.

Fly through the first open window you come to and take us to the top shelf in the kitchen," said the Fairy Queen.

"My goodness!" said the cross blue butterfly. "I'm certainly getting tired of this monkey business. You do take me to the queerest places!"

"Tush!" said the Fairy Queen. "Everything is queer in the world! And when we're on a wish-granting party you never can tell where you'll land. Butterflies can't be choosers any more than beggars. The top shelf, I said."

And soon there they were.

"Hi-a-ow! Spit! Spit!"

There right below them stood Tom—the little mouse changed into a cat by the Fairy Queen's wand.

And right in front of him stood another cat, the regular house cat that had always been there and of whom the little mouse had always been in mortal terror. And they were quarreling.

The other cat was striped and looked wicked.

"Whoor-you-oo?" said the striped cat, his claws going out and in and out and in like—like everything.

"Mi-our! Whoor you-oo?"

But before black Tom had time to answer, the other cat pounced on his back and began to claw at his eyes.

"Ow! Mi-our! Ow!" yelled the black Tom cat who had once been a little mouse. "Lemme go! I'll never come back! Ow! Ow! Lemme go!"

"Promise?" yelled the striped cat. "This is my house and there is only room for one. Promise?"

"Yes, I pro-our-mise!" said the black Tom.

The striped cat let go and black Tom flew out of the door as though he had been shot out of a gun.

Outside on the back porch was Pete, the big Alredale.

"Bow-wow-wow!" he barked, making a dash for the black cat.

But the black cat heard him and climbed up a tree.

"Bow-wow-wow! I'll stay right here all night!" barked Pete, "I hate cats!"

The Fairy Queen and the Twins heard it, for Two Spot had gotten over his crossness and followed because he was as curious as anybody.

But Pete got tired after while—besides he smelled steak frying, and he went back to the house.

"How do you like being a cat?" asked the Fairy Queen.

The black cat looked at the moon that had just come up.

"I don't like it," he said. "I'd rather be a mouse any day. But I've learned one thing. The moon isn't cheese at all, is it?"

The Fairy Queen waved her wand and the little mouse ran squeaking to his home in the coal cellar.

LAWRENCE SWAMPS MILTON, 31-13, IN FINAL GAME

Blues Finish Tilt With Full Squad Of Second String Men

Zussman and Heideman, Star Forwards, Each Score Four Fieldgoals in Best Contest

Milton, Wis. — Lawrence college cagers wound up their 1925 floor season Wednesday night with an easy victory over the Milton college five. The final score was 31 to 13.

The Blue quintet jumped into an early lead and when the whistle blew for the first half had opened an 18 to 3 margin over their opponents. Zussman at right forward for Lawrence was the scoring star of the game, although his work was greatly aided by Blesse and Kotal, guards, who dribbled the ball through the Milton defense and gave Zussman many chances at the hoop.

The Lawrence team finished a successful season, winning the Little Italy title and tying for the Midwest crown.

The lineup:

Lawrence	Milton
R. F. Zussman	Burdick, R. F.
L. F. Heideman	Glover, L. F.
C. Ashman	Chedsey, C.
R. G. Blesse	McMitt, R. G.
L. G. Kotal	Dillner, L. G.

The Nut Cracker

ACCURATELY and authentically translated this should read Florida, United Salesman of America.

The mad rush to the gold fields of California and the hysterical stampede to the oil lands of Texas were one-reel comedies compared to the ten-reel super-extravaganza Florida is filming.

IT SELDOM RAINS IN FLORIDA. WHEN IT DOES AND STRANGERS WALK AWAY WITH MUD ON THEIR SHOES THE STATE LAND ASSESSOR INDICTS THEM FOR GRAND LARCENY. THAT'S HOW IMPORTANT THE SOIL IS.

Florida is just the spot to which Ponce De Leon bounced, paying Bubbling Geyser of Eternal Juvenility. Ponce was several centuries ahead of the timetable. He should have waited until 1925.

Today Ponce would find gray-haired mammas from New England wearing knee-top skirts and inhaling eloquently of Turkish fags. He would pipe bald-headed Pittsburg bankers reveling in second childhood and spraying beach cuties with amorous glances.

BUT IF HE DIDN'T BRING ALONG A FULL BAG OF NIBLICK'S AND VARDON'S NEWEST BOOK ON PLAYING IRON SHOTS TO GREENS HE WOULD BE OUT OF LUCK. LIKE A RETREATING WORM WITHOUT A WIGGLE.

Besides golf atrocities, fashionable hotel horrors and nonreliable climate, Florida is noted for abundant spring production of ivory. More ball teams train in Florida than anywhere else.

This is probably destiny's way of giving the rest of the country an even break. It must be horrible to have to look at loose-eared rookies and underfed reporters for a month at a stretch.

APPLETON K. OF C.'S ABSENT FROM TOURNEY

Appleton Knights of Columbus failed to enter the K. of C. state tournament this year in which the Badger Knights now are fighting for the 1925 title on the Racine alleys. Last year the Appleton cagers had more than ten teams entered and made a creditable showing. This year they got off to a poor start in organizing their league and decided to strike bowling off their list for one season.

TWO WEAKEST TEAMS LEAD NATIONALS IN FIELDING

Oddly enough, two of the weakest teams in the National league topped the rest of the field in the fielding percentage column last season. They were Boston and Philadelphia. Boston led them all with a mark of .973, the Phillies ranking second with .972. The Cubs, usually boasting a clover defensive outfit, brought up the rear.

FORMER GIANT CAPTAIN DIES ON HUNTING TRIP

Augusta, Ga.—The body of John M. Ward, former captain of the New York Giants who died here late Wednesday, will be sent Thursday to Babylon, N. Y., for burial.

Noted as a ball player, Mr. Ward took up the study of law while still a diamond star. The same dogged determination that carried him through his career as a baseball player also marked his effort before the bar and he won distinction as an attorney.

His death came without warning on the day following his sixty-fifth birthday. He was hunting when stricken and was rushed to a hospital. Pneumonia was assigned as the immediate cause.

TRACK MEET WITH IRISH FEATURES BADGER PROGRAM

Wisconsin Runners Hope to Keep Slate Clean for California Races

Madison — Athletic interests at the University of Wisconsin this week end centers around the track meet with Notre Dame, although all mid winter sport teams except the basketball quintet are in contests in Madison or elsewhere.

Having been victorious in the quadrangular and the Iowa meets, the Badgers have been working hard all week in an effort to keep a clean slate. Notre Dame is especially strong in the hurdles and distance, and promises Wisconsin the hardest meet of the season.

Arrangements having been made for the meet with California, April 11, the Wisconsin runners are hoping to be able to face California with a clean record.

The outcome of the swimming meet against Indiana here Saturday is doubtful. Little has been heard of the Hoosiers so far this season and Coach Steinauer hardly knows just what competition to expect. An epidemic of mumps among the tank men makes it uncertain just what men will be able to enter the meet, but it is probable that the team will be considerably different from that which faced Minnesota last week.

Coach Hitchcock's wrestling squad will make a desperate effort to add another victory to their four straight wins in the match against Iowa here. The contest promises to be close. Inasmuch as Iowa won against Michigan by the same score that Wisconsin defeated that team. Practically the same team will face Iowa as wrestled against Michigan.

The gym team should have a comparatively easy time at Chicago, they having suffered but one reverse so far this season. Captain Schmidt is a sure point winner in four of the five events, while several of the other men run him a close second.

The hockey team meets Janesville here Friday in a non-conference game. While they have experienced an unfortunate season so far, they have evidenced good form and considerable fight and are hoped to give Janesville much competition.

Collins Banks On Ray Schalk For Good Year

Philadelphia—Eddie Collins says he looks to Ray Schalk to help him make a much better showing with the White Sox next season.

"Schalk is still a great catcher, far from through, and I am banking on him to be of great service to me in the 1925 campaign," says the new Sox manager.

"Injuries played havoc with him last season. All year he had at least one finger broken, still he managed to do a fair amount of catching."

"The season of 1924 was a jinx one for Ray. I look for him to be very helpful to me the coming season. The hoodoo can't pursue him forever."

"While Ray can no longer work as often as he once could, still no one appreciates his value more than I do and I want him to catch in every game that he is physically able."

Illness Puts Cloud Over Appleton Five In Final Cage Game

Reetz, Star Orange Guard, May Be Lost to Kevin's Quint Because of Severe Cold

Appleton high school basketball team suffered another serious blow on the eve of the Fond du Lac game when it was announced that Reetz, star Orange guard, was confined to his home with a severe cold. He may be able to play by Friday evening, but Coach Jules Kevin is taking no chances. Several new combinations and one or two new men were tried out Wednesday evening. Reetz, playing his first game against Oshkosh last week, filled the gap caused by the ineligibility of Courtney in fine style, playing one of the best floor games of the local five. His absence will be felt greatly against the fast Red and White quint. Soll, Pfeiffer, Voelck and Steinberg played the guard position in Wednesday night's practice session.

The Fondy five was present in a body at the Oshkosh game and had a good chance to see the Kevinmen in real action. With this to work on Coach Fruth has drilled his squad to perfect a defense against the snappy Appleton passing attack. Moser, star forward and a member of last year's state champion quintet, has been going good the last few games and will bear close watching. Appleton held the Redmen to one basket at Fondy recently and should turn in another victory here if Kevin can find a combination which will work as well as Reetz and Soll at guards.

The Orange scrimmaged the pick of Coach Guy Barlow's second string-

75 RECRUITS ARE GIVEN TRYOUTS WITH NATIONAL

According to reports, around 75 recruits will be given tryouts in the National league training camps. Of this amount, 39 are pitchers, Pittsburg heads the list with 14 youngsters, while the Giants rank last with only six.

CARDS SCHEDULE 36 PRE-SEASON CONTESTS

The St. Louis Cards have mapped out a most pretentious schedule for the spring training session. All told 36 games have been listed with teams from various leagues. Two cities have been arranged with the St. Louis Browns, which will be played the Saturday and Sunday before the opening of the season.

LOWLY SHOEMEN UPSET LEADERS OF Y. M. C. A. LOOP

Donald Bushey Cages Eight Fieldgoals to Beat Fox River Quintet

WEDNESDAY'S GAMES
Shoe Fitters 29, Fox River Paper Co. 24.
Coated Paper Co. 16, Citizens Bank 7.
Island Paper Co. 42, Valley Sports 18.

The biggest upset of the season in the Y. M. C. A. Industrial league was furnished by the rejuvenated Shoe Fitter quint Wednesday evening when it trounced the Fox River five in the first game of the evening by a score of 23 to 24. This was the first defeat for the Papermakers who are firmly entrenched in first place. "Doc" Bushey kept the Shoe Fitters in the race and practically won the game with his accurate shooting, scoring 8 ringers from the field. R. Tornow and S. Tornow played the best game for the losers, each turning in 6 baskets. The Shoe Fitters lead at the half, 17 to 12. The Papermakers got started in the last half and held their opponents even, but the lead was too great to overcome.

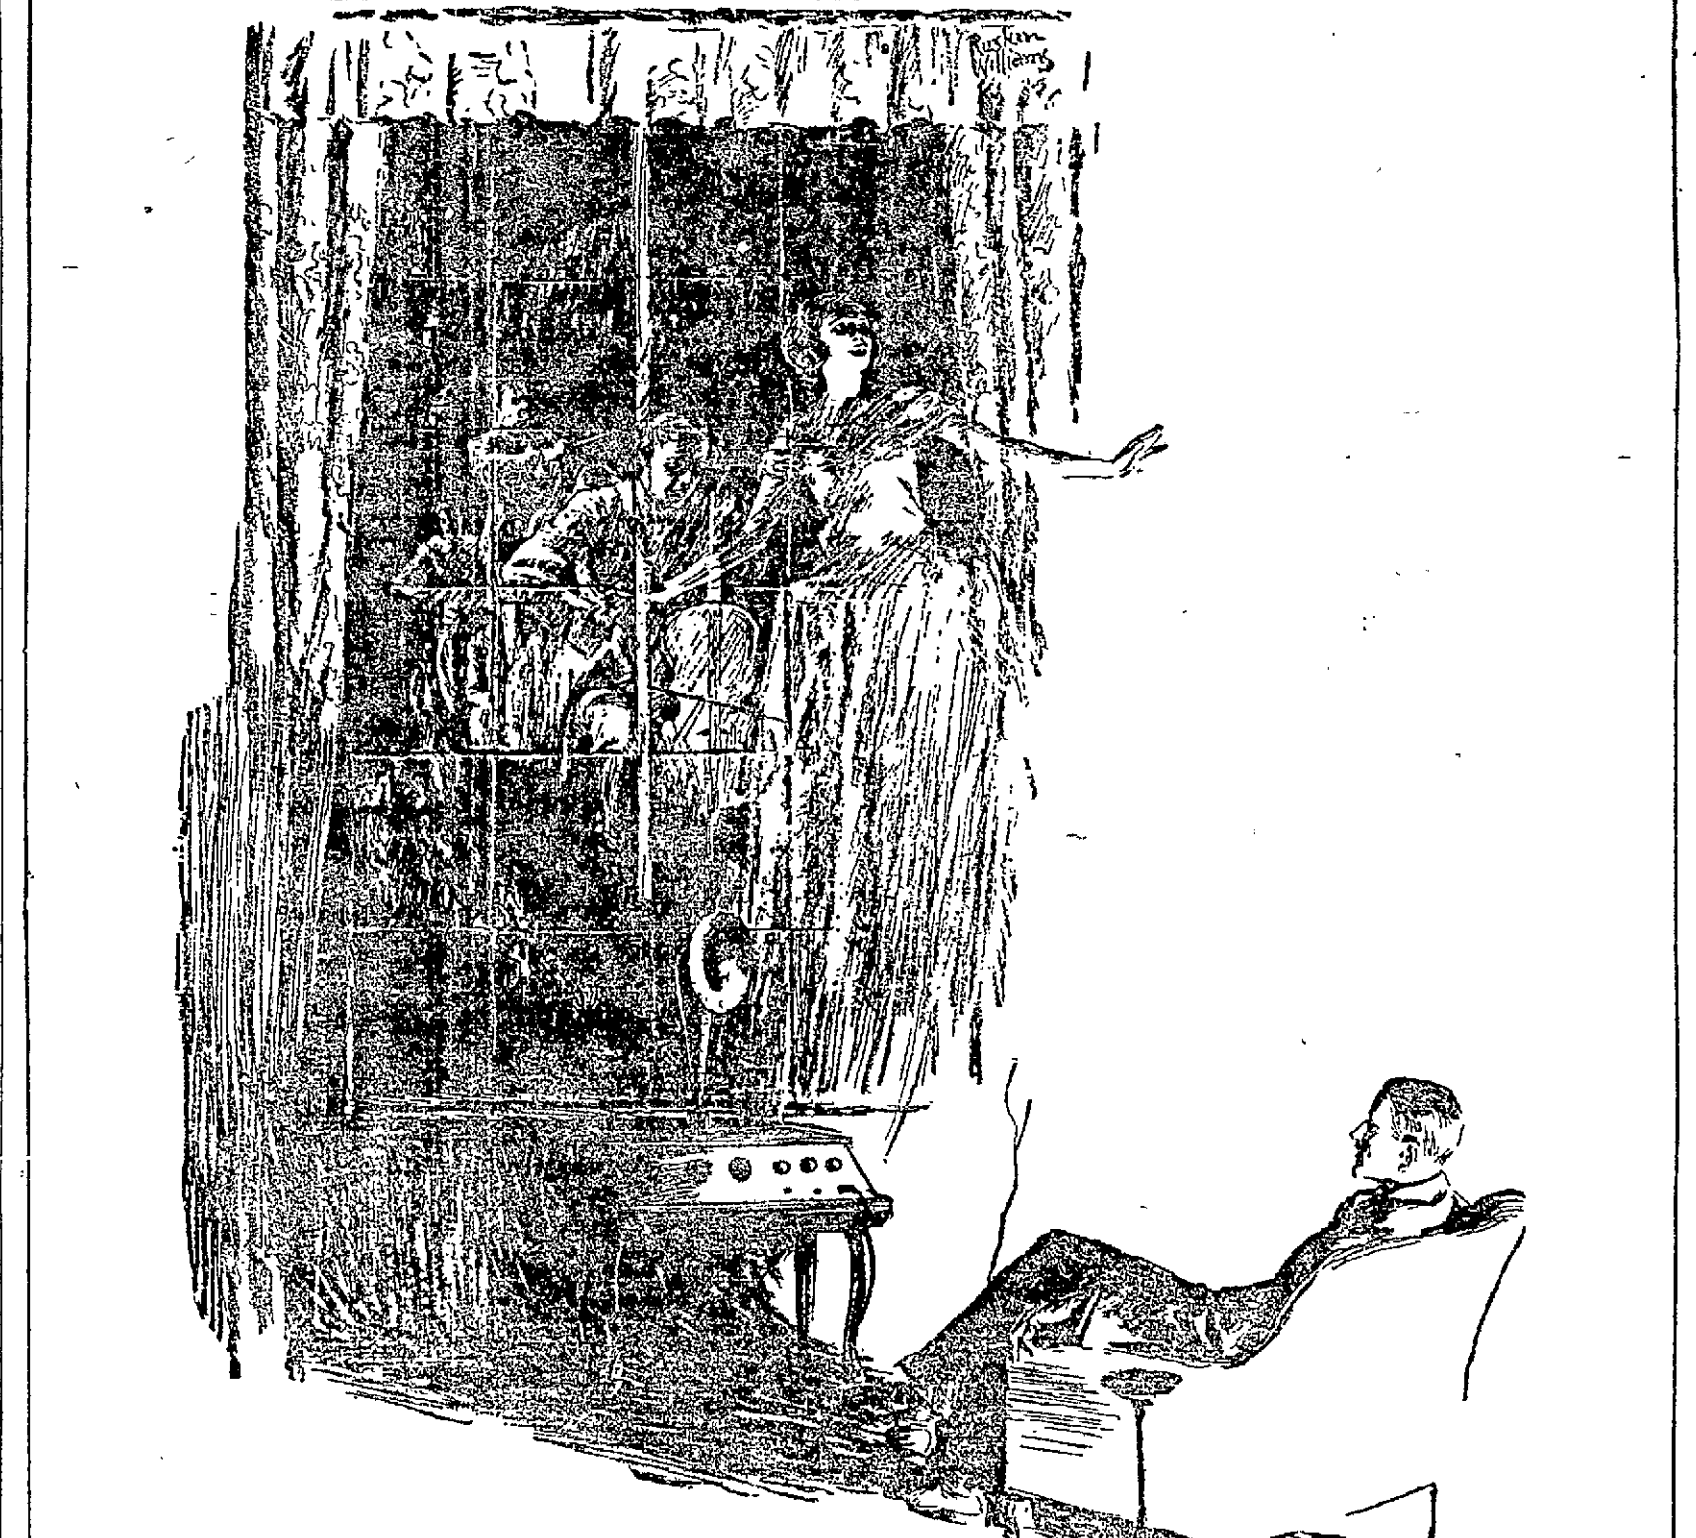

The fast traveling Coated Paper quint took its fourth straight victory from the Citizens Bank and went into a tie for second place. The final score was 16 to 7. The Coated crew has defeated two of the league's strongest teams in the last two weeks, going from fifth to second place in that time.

Hillman played the best game for the winners both on offense and defense. He dropped in three ringers and Bradford sank two. Every man on the Coated quint made a basket. Schultz, H. Voelck and B. McKenzie scored all of the baskets for their team. The score at the half was 14 to 2. With substitutions by the Coated five, the Bankers were able to grab a 5 to 2 lead the last half.

Island Paper Co. easily defeated the last place Valley Sport crew in the last game of the evening by a 42 to 13 score. The Island forwards broke through the Valley defense and scored shots from all angles of the floor. With the score 22 to 5 in their favor at the end of the half, the Island guards and forwards changed positions and took a 20 to 13 score for the second period. Cookson scored 3 field goals for the losers.

Hieble and Eisler sank 6 apiece and Benoit caged 5. Every man on the winning squad got at least 2 baskets.

ers Wednesday and looked good after Kneip and Bowby took their regular forward positions. In the early part of the session they were unable to stop the fast corner attack of Barlow's forwards with the new guard combinations, but after a hard workout this was stopped short. This attack is the chief play in the bag of tricks employed by the speedy Fountain City crew. The Orange offense worked well and Bowby, Kneip, Ashman and Soll carried the ball down under the basket time and again. Friday night's game should be the fastest contest on the local court this year outside of the exciting Neenah battle.

Falling Prices—and Flying Values

Prices in their relation to values are like a halyard and its flag—as one goes down the other comes up. With other things equal, pulling down the price raises the value.

If you are interested in prices which are pulled down and in values which are flying high in the bargain breeze—turn to the A-B-C Classified Section of the Post-Crescent.

Classified advertisers are governed by the theory that low prices make quick sales. They believe that in pulling down prices and in pulling up values to flaunt conspicuously before everybody's gaze, they will induce quick buying which more than makes up for smaller profits.

And they are right—as right as you will be if you join in the eager buying classified bargains.

Thrift is a characteristic of the Classified Section—and of those who consult it regularly!

BALK MOVEMENT TO ADD $200 A YEAR TO ENGINEER'S PAY

Effort to Increase Salary at This Time Is Illegal, Bos-ser Advises

An attempt to grant an increase in salary to R. M. Connolly, city engineer, was halted Wednesday evening after Alderman Mike Steinhauer and George T. Richardson opposed it and Mayor John Goodland, Jr., ruled the resolution out of order.

The resolution, introduced by Alderman Jerry Callahan, Fourth ward, proposed that the council action setting the salary of the engineer at $3,100 to be rescinded and raised to $3,300.

Alderman Steinhauer objected to the proposal for two reasons. He said that a comparison of salaries paid other city engineers of this state shows that the Appleton engineer is now getting a higher salary than that paid by much larger cities. In view of the fact that the engineer will be relieved of the duties of street commissioner this year, the alderman declared there was no cause for increasing the salary.

QUESTION LEGALITY

A point of order was made by Alderman Richard, who asked A. C. Bosser, city attorney, if it were not illegal to change the salary at this time. Mr. Bosser declared that according to the statutes all officers' salaries must be set in the first meeting in February and that they may not be diminished or increased during their term. He cited a case in which the court had ruled against a similar salary act in the city of Phillips. The court had held that the provision setting the date for salary schedules is mandatory.

When the question of the legality of the salary ordinance passed by the common council Wednesday was raised, Mr. Bosser replied that officers of the fire and police departments are not in the same classification with a city engineer.

Alderman Thompson expressed doubt as to whether the Phillips case would apply to the present one in all details. He said that the mandatory provision had been complied with by fixing the engineer's salary at the February meeting, and that such action was now merely being reconsidered, also that no change in salary was being made during the term of the engineer. A term of office does not expire until May 1.

Mayor Goodland was of the opinion that in view of the statutes and the court decision, the council was without authority to act in the matter and therefore he ruled the motion out of order.

BEGIN REHEARSALS FOR COLUMBIAN CLUB PLAY

The first rehearsal for "The Upped Room," the play which Columbian club of St. Mary church will give March 22, will be held Thursday night in Columbia hall, Miss Rose Ellen McNevin of Chicago, who is directing the production, will have charge of the rehearsal. The same cast that played in "The Upped Room" last year will be used, with the exception of three persons who are out of the city.

POLICE GUNS BARK AND FOUR CANINES SHUFFLE OFF

Four executions in one day featured the activities of Appleton police officers Wednesday, with the shattering of blue transients, Wednesday night to mark the end of a perfect day. During the day four owners of dogs that had seen their last years called for an executioner, and four revolver shots put an end to the lives of the canines.

RASEY MADE HONORARY MEMBER OF HI-Y CLUB

Lee C. Rasey, principal of Appleton high school, was made an honorary member of Appleton Hi-Y club at the installation meeting of the group Wednesday evening at the Y. M. C. A. This is the highest honor that the group of high school boys can confer on a non-member.

Officers installed were Edward Blessman, president; Harold Edus, vice president; Frank Hartman, secretary; Glenn Opperman, treasurer. Installing officers were the retiring officers: Laurence Babin, president; Alan Harwood, vice president; Everett Roubesh, secretary; Julian Bender, treasurer. The meeting was followed by a social hour.

HUMAN SIDE OF SHELLY PICTURED IN NEW BIOGRAPHY

Maurois Writes Interestingly of Life of Irresponsible
British Poet

BY GEORGE JONES

When the lives of great or pseudo-great men and women are at last run off the press it is the worst of certain people of varying importance to write their biographies. Unfortunately the biographies are usually unreal; they make a hero and a tin snare of the real man. These biographies are obituaries in the home town paper stuffed with hollow praise out of consideration for the feelings of the dear departed's relatives. They are not concerned with noting the little peculiarities of speech, thought, and action that mark a person as distinctly different from anyone else. Thus biographers have definitely proved that Jesse James was the savior of his country, that the glib Grant was one of our most capable presidents, and they have made of Wordsworth, who at least once dined down the primrose path of passion, an absolute paragon of virtue.

So be it.

But the old order changeth, and a new generation of biographers comes to the fore. This new generation realizes, as Emerson must have, that Samuel Johnson ate hunks of bread while roaming the streets of London and stuffed the crusts in his pockets is infinitely more interesting than an estimation of his value to literature. They are primarily concerned with making the person human—not with making a hero of him, or estimating for all time the value of his works. And so, for almost the first time, Strachey's "Queen Victoria," Bradford's "Damaged Souls," Werner's "Barnum," and Dibble's "Strenuous Americans" are biographies that are really interesting.

Maurois' "Ariel" or "The Life of Shelley" belongs in the latter class of biographies. It is more than interesting; it is fascinating, for the author does not attempt to pass upon Shelley's religious, political, or moral opinions—he merely writes the life of Shelley in a sympathetic and simple manner.

There is a vein of quiet humor running through this romance. All romances, no matter how poignant, are, when judged in terms of reality, humorous. The tragic spectacle of a person not of this world trying, or refusing, to adjust himself to this world cannot help but call forth a smile—even though the smile be a sympathetic one. And so, although for the most part Maurois is ironic towards Shelley's relatives and persecutors, he is also ironic towards this mad, handsome, curly-haired poet.

What a spectacle—poor Shelley trying to compress an evanescent ideal of beauty within some definite creed! Knowing, yet not knowing, what he desired of life, ludicrously ill-equipped to do battle with life, yet ever rebelling to the tragic end!

Viewing things a hundred years later Shelley's actions and opinions seem almost tame—there was very little for people to make such a hullabaloo about. Yet in those days Shelley was believed to be a sort of advance agent of the Anti-Christ. He believed in a God, yet called him

MAC FARLANE BOOK MUCH IN DEMAND

"Tongues of Flame" Leaps to Sudden Popularity in Appleton

Six books of fiction have been holding the attention of the public for the last week, for on the list of most popular books made out by Appleton Public Library are "The Enchanted Hill" by Peter B. Kyne, "Tongues of Flame" by MacFarlane, "The Pastoral Quest" by Oppenheim, "The Thundering Heart" by Zane Grey, "Lucky in Love" by Berta Ruck and "The Little French Girl" by Sedgwick.

The sudden popularity of "Tongues of Flame" by MacFarlane is attributed to the motion picture, which is being shown here now, although the book has been much in demand since it was put into circulation.

Berta Ruck's new book, "Lucky in Love," is receiving the same welcome that all her books do and it is almost impossible to find it on the shelves, so often is it circulated. "Lucky in Love" is the story of a girl who decided to sell her dearest keepsake to hold a friend, never dreaming that doing so would lead her to many thrilling adventures.

In the children's department the best circulators were "The Life of Abraham Lincoln" by James Baldwin and biographies of Lincoln by other authors, "The Life of Washington" and "The Life of Lafayette" also were wanted.

Besides the biographies of great men, the children asked for histories of the United States by A. F. Blais, E. S. Brooks and Edward Eggleston.

on the shore of Via Reggia. Shelley's vain struggle to attain his ideal of beauty was at an end.

Croup Relieved Without Dosing

Too much dosing is harmful to a child's delicate stomach. Often it lays the foundation for ill health in later life.

The next time a child seems croupy in the evening apply Vicks over throat and chest and cover with a warm flannel cloth. Leave the bedclothing loose about the neck so that the arising vapors may be freely inhaled. This usually prevents a night attack.

If croup comes on without warning an application of Vicks usually brings relief in 15 minutes. Vicks can be applied freely and often, even on the youngest child with perfect safety.

Wet Summer Felt Now In Meat Prices

Last summer's continual rains are beginning to be felt in Appleton backbones. Butchers here have announced sharp increases in the prices of meat because of the shortage of corn which forced many farmers to dispose of all their hogs last fall, creating a shortage now.

Pork prices have made the most radical advances. Hogs which last October were sold for 7 and 7 1/2 cents a pound now bring 13 cents a pound and there has been a corresponding increase in other porkers.

Lard, bacon and ham prices jumped sharply this last week because packers are beginning to buy here because there aren't any. They are compelled to buy elsewhere.

Calves now are as high as any time during the war, it is said, and prices of veal are higher as a result. Beef prices also have advanced materially.

She Had Lost All Hope Says, I Owe My Life to Parry's Vegetable Compound

Sold in Appleton by Voigt's Drug Store Only

We Quote from the Wonderful Letter of Mrs. Grace
Spong, of Hagerstown, Maryland

Dear Friends: I feel that my experience with Parry's Vegetable Compound will prove of interest as developments in my case were rather unusual.

During the month of January, 1931, I was taken down in my bed, being ill for ten weeks, kept growing worse all the time.

I could not eat and all my pain seemed to be in my right side, piercing me so badly I could not raise my head off the pillow or turn off the flat of my back.

One of my doctors, being a specialist, advised me to go to the hospital. He said I could not get well without an operation. I consented to go.

That was on the 5th of April and on the 21st of April I was operated on.

On the 21st day of May, I was sent home, that making a period of 16 weeks. My doctor said I would live a while, but could not tell how long.

I was home but a short time when I began to grow worse. I could not turn my head around very far or put my right arm above my head. I did not know what was wrong. The doctors did not tell me about my condition, but told my husband.

LEGISLATORS WILL TRY AGAIN TO GET RAISE IN SALARIES

By Associated Press
Madison—The Wisconsin assembly again has decided to ask its "employers"—the people—for an increase in salary and whether the request will be made rests with the remainder of the "employees"—the state senate.

The resolution by Frank J. Weber, Milwaukee assemblyman, proposing a constitutional amendment to increase the law makers' pay from $500 to $1,000 a session has been adopted in the lower house and goes to the other branch for concurrence or rejection. The assembly's adoption was without a record vote and no opposition developed after the measure previously had been amended to make the proposed new salary $1,000 instead of $1,500 as originally sought.

The change was made, according to members, to increase the chances of the proposed amendment for ratification by the people. Similar proposals have met defeat several times.
